Military Experts From Russia Due To Arrive in Iraq

Technicians Expected to Follow Shipments of Arms

Washington — Soviet military technicians are expected to arrive soon in Iraq as a follow-up to Russian arms shipments to Premier Abdel Kerim Kassam's government.

Diplomatic officials who reported this today said Kassam has agreed to accept an undetermined number of red experts to train the Iraqi armed forces in using Soviet tanks, jet planes, artillery and motorized equipment.

A Soviet ship is reported to have unloaded sizable quantities of such Russian weapons within the past few weeks in a move edging Iraq closer to the Russian bloc.

Restrictions on West

This Iraq-Soviet deal came in the wake of Iraq's moves to restrict western diplomatic contacts in the troubled, oil-rich Middle East nation.

The revolutionary regime has closed down the United States consulate in Kirkuk, the northern Iraqi city which is the center of Kurdish activity and also of the nation's oil-producing territory. The Kurds are non-Arab mountain people who make up a sixth of Iraq's population.

Also closed were the Kirkuk consulates of Britain, Turkey and Iran. The Soviets have no diplomatic outpost in this area but Sheikh Mustafa Barzani, a Soviet-trained Kurdish chief, returned to Iraq about two months ago with government permission. He had lived in the Soviet Union since he led an abortive revolt in 1946.

Kassam's government ordered the shutdown two weeks ago, banning all foreign diplomats from the Kirkuk region. It gave no explanation. Consulates in Basra, in southern Iraq, were not affected by the order.

The state department did not protest the Iraq action. It has ordered the two American

Prepare to Pick Convention City, Study Civil Rights

Washington — Triumphant Democrats gathered today for the first of four days of post-election meetings. They will decide on legislative recommendations and where to hold their national convention in 1960.

The sessions were called by the Democratic national committee and by its 24-member advisory council. Intra-party scraps on civil rights are in prospect.

Today and tomorrow were to be given over to closed hearings by a sub-committee named to received bids from seven cities for the 1960 national nominating convention. Leaders say they are laying convention plans about 19 months ahead to be assured of adequate auditorium and hotel space.

Cities Make Bids

San Francisco, host to the Democratic convention in 1956, and Los Angeles, a day awaited his extradition to the bidding. Wisconsin in connection with alleged violence in the 41st today New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Miami Beach and Chicago will follow.

A credentials committee of the national committee also will meet in open session to charge of assault with intent tomorrow to consider the status of Camille F. Gravel, national committee member from Louisiana whom the state or Louisiana has voted to remove. The civil rights issue and national committee rules are involved in the dispute.

The full national committee meets Saturday in public session to act on recommendations of the convention site 1954. The man died 151 and credentials groups and to months later.

The future of Chairman Paul M. Butler also may be considered. Southerners may try to ensure or oust Butler for his no-compromise stand for a strong civil rights plank in the 1960 platform.

$119 Million Total Sought for Biennium, Greatest on Record

Madison — The department of public welfare said today it would need an increase of $15,762,129 for 1959-61 over the amount given it from the general fund for the present biennium.

Wilbur J. Schmidt, director for the department, presented his budget requests to Gov.-elect Gaylord Nelson and noted that the increase requested was substantial. But, it is needed, he said, to continue existing programs. It also reflects increasing populations and costs.

The general fund budget request for 1959-61 was $119,098,891 as compared with $103,336,762 set up for the present biennium. In addition the department submitted its revolving budget of $67,257,302 for the 1959-61 biennium, compared with $62,397,101 for the present two years. This is an increase of $4,860,201.

All Earmarked

The revolving fund budget is made up primarily from federal funds for state aid. It cannot be disturbed because most of the money from it is earmarked for specific needs. Some revolving fund money also comes from industrial activities of various departments.

The Schmidt budget request, highest ever presented in an executive budget hearing, dramatized the increasing costs of today's concept of essential welfare services in a rapidly changing society.

Direct Aids

The figure includes tens of thousands of persons getting direct money aids through various assistance programs financed cooperatively by the state, the localities and the national government.

But it also embraces a host of services and care programs in institutions, penitentiaries and hospitals, most of which have been heavily expanded during the last decade in the quality of their structures, staffs and equipment, and which also are receiving steadily higher enrollments.

Schmidt, for example, now commands a corps of about 4,500 employees and officials in his various service. Merely to continue present programs because of higher caseloads, will require the addition of 443, he told Nelson. But he also wants to change and improve programs.

Ask How Mobster
Avoided Trial in Income Tax Cases

Washington — Senate racketers probers demanded today to know how mobster Frank Cammarata managed to avoid prosecution for failing to file income tax returns for seven years.

With the dark-haired hoodlum himself on the stand, Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) and Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) said the treasury department owes congress a full explanation.

Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said that from 1939 to 1946 after being deported to Italy and smuggling himself back, Cammarata hid out in Ohio, never filed an income tax return and even was permitted by the treasury department to file his back returns in 1949.

Cammarata steadily took the fifth amendment and refused to answer questions. He pleaded it might incriminate him to answer questions and his alleged involvement in convincing between some Detroit teamsters unions and take box distributors to enforce monopoly practices.

Besides, the Italian born Cammarata said, "I can't speak very good English."

He added, "But how would you feel about going where everyone calls you an alleged killer?"

William Bersch Sr., 65, was an alleged assault victim Bersch's death certificate listed the cause of his later death as a chronic heart ailment.

Bersch's son, William Jr., also allegedly assaulted by Cammarata, has expressed belief in the reputed beating caused his father's death.

Former Dictator Accused of Plot

Colombia's President and Army Leaders in Full Control

Bogota, Colombia — President Alberto Lleras Camargo and the army ruled Colombia under a modified form of martial law today after arresting former Dictator, Gustavo Rojas Pinilla on Lt. Carlos Rojas, were taken charges of plotting a coup. In a broadcast, Lleras Camargo said the attempt to overthrow his government was scheduled for next Saturday. He proclaimed a state of siege and warned against public gatherings which might indicate subversion.

The nation remained calm. Troops were posted throughout Bogota.

Numerous pledges of support were made to the president, who was overwhelmingly elected last May 4 to succeed the military junta which overthrew Rojas Pinilla.

One pledge came from Crisanto Cardinal Luque, primate

Services Held for 3 Nun Fire Victims

Chicago — Some 1,200 mourners paid final respect today at a solemn requiem mass for three heroic nuns who died Monday in the fire at Our Lady of the Angels school.

Archbishop Albert Gregory Meyer celebrated the mass for the three Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary who tried valiantly to save their charges.

Eighty-seven pupils perished in the roaring flames, and 72 survivors are in hospitals. Sixteen are in critical condition.

Six hundred nuns attended the mass, including many of various other orders. In the first six pews in the front of the church knelt the sorrowing relatives of the fire victims. About 150 knelt in front pews on the right side of the church near the charred school building.

Finn Cabinet Forced to Quit

Economy Suffers As Relations With Russia Worsen

Helsinki — Prime Minister August Fagerholm resigned today and Finland was without a government as a result of worsening relations with the Soviet union.

Fagerholm quit after the five agrarian party members of the cabinet resigned, taking away the coalition government's majority in parliament.

Fagerholm handed his resignation to President Urho Kekkonen, who asked him to stay on until a new government can be formed. Fagerholm agreed, at least for the remainder of the week.

Fagerholm also will take over the post of foreign minister in the interim. Foreign Minister Johannes Virolainen led the walkout of his agrarian colleagues.

Soviet economic pressure has been brought against Finland.

Await Army's Space Probe

Increased Activity At Canaveral Hints At Early Launching

Cape Canaveral, Fla. — Visibly increased activity in the launching area of a modified Jupiter rocket indicated today that the army was preparing to fire its first space probe soon.

Workmen could be observed moving about the area, upon which attention has centered since Tuesday when the Jupiter was allowed to stand free of its service tower for some time.

The rollback of the tower was one indication that pre-launch checks of the missile were underway.

Scientists and technicians from the army agencies and contracting firms involved in space projects have been checking in at motels of the area, and are much in evidence around the small beach towns.

Official sources here were silent as to launching plans in Washington 10 days ago. However, the Associated Press reported that the army planned to try a Juno II space launch—a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile topped by 15 smaller rockets clustered in three stages—during a week's period starting Dec. 6.

Army and defense department officials have announced that in its forthcoming attempt the army will aim for the moon in the almost certain knowledge that it will miss that small target.

The hope is to send a small instrumented probe out past the moon into an orbit around the sun.

Raging Brush Fire Burning Itself Out

Firemen in Control of Over Half Of Flame's 37-Mile Perimeter; Tragic Scenes Left in Black Wake

Malibu Beach, Calif. — A huge brush fire that swept the hills behind this famed beach colony appeared to be burning itself out today after a furious 3-day assault. Smoke grained firemen were firmly in control of more than half of its 37-mile perimeter. They had hopes of subduing the blaze some time today or tomorrow.

Pockets of flame in the deep canyons of the Malibu hills still offered fierce resistance, however, and fire officials warned that rising winds could set the whole front ablaze again.

In its terrifying 8-mile rush across the hills to the sea shore, the fire charred 18,000 acres, destroyed 29 homes and left scenes like these:

Blackened Ground
Chains of children's swings, hanging above blackened ground, the wooden seats gone in flames along with the house beyond.

A housewife crying in a little cement-block laundry house next to a chimney and a rubble that once was a refrigerator, a stove and bed-springs—all that's left of her home.

Silence, like that of deserted battlefields. Chimneys standing like tombstones, marking where big homes once stood. Children's toys, blown or twisted, their paint blistered.

An undaunted resident Charles Chapman, who lost one home to fire in his canyon in 1935 and another home yesterday, saying:

We'll Rebuild
"We'll stay. We'll rebuild. The neighbors will help. We don't want to move away."

Bob Carlson saved his home with water from his own well and survived a perilous run.

Senator Tells Soviets U. S. Sick of War

Hubert Humphrey Gives Short Talk On Moscow Video

Moscow — U. S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) told the Moscow television audience last night that the post in the parking lot of a supermarket near the movie government are sick of war.

He urged the Russian and American nations to join in seeking a just and lasting peace.

The 15-minute speech, which was translated into Russian on the broadcast over the Moscow station, was the first appearance of an American official on Soviet television since U.S. Ambassador J. William Thompson spoke last July 3.

Thompson on that unprecedented occasion called for abolition of censorship.

Tired of War
"The people of the world are tired of thinking of war, tired of misery," Humphrey told the viewers.

"Our people and our government, too, are tired of war. I know our President Eisenhower, who fought with your people in the last war, is anxious to cooperate with you in the only war we want—war against disease, poverty, ignorance, misery and fear."

Humphrey said there is "no question in this world which cannot be solved in peace." He appealed for the Soviet Union and the United States to cooperate to "give meaning and dignity to life by assuring spiritual and physical well-being of people everywhere."

"We want to know you and we want you to know us and visit us. We must learn to live together," he said.

Humphrey concludes a week's visit in the Soviet Union today and was to fly to Copenhagen. He came to seek Soviet cooperation in an international medical research program and had an 8-hour talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev Tuesday. After the talk, Humphrey told newsmen that U.S.-Soviet differences are "broad and deep" and that the Berlin dispute is "fraught with danger—plenty of danger."

"There are about half a million TV sets in the Soviet capital, which has a population of about five million. A number of other sets are owned by rural families within range of the Moscow station."

Feels State Residents Want Legalized 'Games of Chance'

Eagle River — State Sen. Clifford W. Krueger, R-Merrill, feels that perhaps the people of Wisconsin would like legalized "games of chance."

Krueger endorsed a survey to determine sentiment on the idea during a meeting of the Vilas County Tavern league, it was announced Wednesday. The senator represents a major resort area including Iron, Lincoln, Oneida, Price, Taylor and Vilas counties.

Krueger said he favors legislation that would authorize a state conducted survey of the Wisconsin vacation regions. He said the survey should sound out sentiment on legalized "games of chance."

A Sign Pleading With Motorists to "Keep California Green and Golden" is itself about to be consumed by the fire which swept through the mountains above Malibu Beach, Calif. Find Slashed Bodies Of Gambler and Wife At Milwaukee

Police Probe Past of Gus Greenbaum For Link to Brutal Phoenix Slaying

Phoenix, Ariz. — Police today scrutinized the past of millionaire Gus Greenbaum.

Mrs. Greenbaum Greenbaum

The bodies of the gambler and his wife, Bess, were found Wednesday in their Phoenix home. Each had been killed with a 9-inch butcher knife.

Police have, not established a motive, but said there was nothing to indicate that the Greenbaums were victims of underworld assassins.

Greenbaum, who had been ill recently, was 65. His wife was 64. He was president and part owner of the Riviera hotel, the El Cortez hotel and the Las Vegas club in Las Vegas, Nev.

Although a 3 carat diamond ring worn by Greenbaum was missing, Det. Capt. Orme Moorehead said other valuables were untouched. There was no sign of forcible entry to the house.

He said the couple apparently was slain Tuesday evening. Their maid discovered the bodies yesterday afternoon.

Police reconstructed the crime this way:

Greenbaum was watching television in his bedroom. His wife had left to drive the maid home. The killer or killers entered, and killed Greenbaum with the knife, taken from the kitchen. When his wife returned, they slugged, bound and killed her. Her body was found face-down on a couch about 50 feet away from her husband's bedroom. Her hands were tied behind her back with one of her husband's neckties.

Bookmaking Dynasty
Greenbaum, a native of Chicago, came to Phoenix 25 years ago with two brothers and founded a bookmaking dynasty that crumbled in a 1948 police crackdown. He then acquired interests in several Las Vegas establishments, including the Flamingo hotel, built by mobster Bugsy Siegel. Siegel was slain by underworld bullets in 1947.

Greenbaum sold his interest in the Flamingo in 1954 for a reported $9 million.

The Greenbaums had one child, Mrs. Harold Tenenbaum, wife of a Phoenix insurance executive.

Claims Anti-Jewish Discrimination in Housing Is Spreading

New York — A Boston judge told a Jewish organization today that anti-Jewish discrimination in housing is spreading to the suburbs and small towns of America.

"The pattern of discrimination is spreading to suburban areas like a malignant growth," said Judge David A. Rose.

"If left unchecked, it has the potential of bringing about a new type of tree-lined ghetto, with Christians and Jews living apart in mutual distrust."

Judge Rose is chairman of the national civil rights committee of the anti-defamation league of B'nai B'rith, Jewish fraternal organization.

Dr. Clemens Messmer Dies in Milwaukee

Arson Hinted

Firm Involved in Labor Troubles Struck by Blaze

Milwaukee — Police said Wednesday night evidence pointed to arson in a fire that caused $1,400 damage to a warehouse owned by the Milwaukee Plywood company. Four employees were credited with preventing greater damage.

The Milwaukee firm is owned by the Aetna Plywood and Veneer company, of Chicago. Aetna and Local 743 of the Teamsters Union have been involved in a long dispute over a new contract.

Picket Warehouse
Local 743 began picketing the Milwaukee warehouse in August, but the national labor relations board went into federal court the following month for an injunction banning mass picketing. The NLRB asserted the picketing constituted a violation of the anti-boycott provisions of the Taft-Hartley act.

Det. Sgt. Walter Lazowski said traces of fuel oil were found on the south end of the building where the fire was centered. An empty 5-gallon fuel oil drum was found nearby.

$200 Damage
The frame warehouse, portions of it 100 years old, was packed with plywood sheets. Damage to the building was estimated at $200 and damage to contents at $1,200.

Police and firemen said the manager and three employees prevented the fire from becoming a conflagration by rushing outside with extinguishers and keeping the blaze under control until the fire department arrived.

Car Accident Victim, Unconscious 5 Years, Dies in Salt Lake City

Salt Lake City — It was five years ago last June that Arden A. Winn was taken unconscious from the scene of an auto accident. He died Wednesday and doctors said he had been unconscious the entire time.

Winn, 32, of Gunnison, Utah, was one of five persons hurt June 13, 1953, when a car went out of control and rolled over near Redmond, Utah.

Actress Natalie Wood Sues Movie Magazine

Los Angeles — Actress Natalie Wood has sued a magazine for $100,000 damages, charging libel and invasion of privacy.

Her complaint, filed Wednesday against TV and Movie Screen magazine, said recovering in a hospital from its Sept. 1 issue contained the false statements regarding her private life.

Report Russia Close To Attempting Major Probe of the Moon

Soviet Firing Could be Fancy One, Rocket City Magazine Story Says

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

Huntsville, Ala. — Russia is reported very close to shooting for the moon, a scientist writes in the magazine, Space Journal. A U.S. army shot for the moon is expected this weekend.

The Soviet attempt could be a fancy one—to put a 110-to-220-pound probe into orbit around the moon, taking movies and TV pictures.

A Soviet scientist way back in February, 1957, outlined just such a plan, calling it "cosmic boomerang," says Ronald C. Wakeford, director of research of the National Research and Development corporation, Atlanta, Ga.

Actively Pursued
"It is believed that this project has been actively pursued since its inception and that it is currently approaching the hardware stage," no reason to doubt the quality of the products," Wakeford adds.

Japan, Russia Sign New Trade Agreement

Moscow — Japan and the Soviet Union today signed an agreement providing for $35 million in trade each way in 1959—a 25 per cent increase.

Under the agreement Japan will buy an unspecified amount of wheat, 100,000 tons of crude oil, 45,000 tons of manganese and chrome ores and 350,000 tons of coal, plus precious metals, fertilizers, asbestos, chemical goods and lumber.

In exchange, Japan will ship fishing boats, machines, textile and printing equipment, chemical industrial equipment, iron and steel ahead in guided missiles, and products and chemical products surely have rockets capable ucts.

Volcanic Action
A Soviet astronomer recently said he had taken photographs of apparent volcanic action on the moon.

The Soviets are pushing ahead in guided missiles, and products and chemical products surely have rockets capable ucts.

Council Gets Nowhere On Sewer Charges

Councilmen Make It Plain, However, They Intend to Establish Some Charge, Some Way

The city council Wednesday got nowhere on a solution of how to collect money from landowners benefited by sanitary sewer trunk construction.

During a recess of the official council meeting, it was made plain, however, there is intent to start collecting some money, some way.

Until now, trunks have been financed by long-term bonds repaid through annual property taxes.

$636,000 in Trunks

Aldermen apparently are unanimous in intent to reduce the heavy draw this practice has placed on the tax rate of street improvements, for down situation, revealed a wide diversity of opinion on what to charge, and what to do.

Consecutive tax rate increases of $4.50 the last two determined.

Duszyński has plans nearly call the charge.

Decision on the South Meadows trunk construction complete for sewerage the issue lively.

(four fringe areas and wants down charge, it was said, to know whether his engineers should go on with the work.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe wants a trunk extended into South Meadows plat, the former Esplanade farm, this winter with start of construction as soon as possible. He said Wednesday night he'd be willing to set the trunk assessment at 100 per cent of cost.

The works director put additional weight to the money problem by reminding aldermen that trunk work commits the city form with whatever policy to another $900,000 in storm sewers. He also mentioned $55,500 in city shares of local cess, called to see whether the trunk and the city's share of street improvements, for down situation, revealed a wide diversity of opinion on what to charge, and what to do.

Decision on the South Meadows trunk construction complete for sewerage the issue lively.

costs were figured at $700 an acre. Storm sewers are paid for by all city taxpayers.

Estimates, he said, do not include addition of a third for financing and 6 per cent for engineering, but do include the city's share of local sewers. If all these were added, the four areas would cost the city about $1.5 million for sanitary and storm sewers, he said.

Duszyński advocates a flat charge per acre, to be collected at the time of construction of local sewers.

Another study he presented of 10 surrounding areas shows cost per acre varying from $121 for land east toward Kimberly on the south side of the river and as far south as Hoover avenue, to $362.50 for the land around the proposed northwest lift station.

Classes Planned in Astronomy, Public Speaking

Two new classes to begin in the second semester have been scheduled at Appleton Vocational and Adult school, according to M. J. Ness, coordinator of general subjects.

Kenneth Sager will instruct a class in public speaking, beginning Jan. 6. The class will meet for ten 2-hour sessions and is designed to help the student gain confidence in speaking before a group. Selecting a title, gathering information, composing the speech and techniques in delivery will be emphasized.

An introductory course in astronomy will begin Jan. 7 and will be taught by Jerry Knut. Viewing planets through a telescope will be included in the non-technical course.

Registrations for both courses are being accepted at the school office.

AHS Teacher Named To WEA Committee

E. John Goodrich, of the Appleton High school social studies department, has been appointed to the resolutions committee of the Wisconsin Education association for 1959.

The resolutions committee meets several times a year to work on resolutions to be presented to the delegate assembly at the WEA convention in November.

Others said a flat charge to everyone on a per acre or per lot basis would have to be high enough to defray a good share of far fringe extensions, but that would make the charge to others close to the treatment plant perhaps twice as much as actual cost of work.

Others said any charge shouldn't be called a service charge because the city may want to use that title in the future to finance sewage treatment and service by the charge pegged on the amount of water the property owner uses.

Areas, Costs

Others pointed out a full cost charge might stifle growth. Cost would be too great for developers to finance, or would make building lots too expensive, they said.

The four areas and costs cited by Duszyński:

Land owned by Griesbach, Klitzke, Hooyman and others at the northwest corner, 300 acres, $93,600 for lift station, trunks and local sewers, $210,000 for storm sewers.

Kesting, Kirk and Laux subdivision at the northeast corner, 160 acres, $344,000 for sanitary sewers and $310,000 for storm sewers.

Hansen and Bassett land on the east limits south of the Fox river, 38 acres, $27,549 for sanitary sewers and $26,609 for storm sewers.

The Schaefer family land, south of Hansen's and Bassett's, 124 acres, $43,020 for sanitary sewers, $90,000 for storm sewers.

Duszyński said storm sewer

Lawrence Says: Court Rulings On Integration Confuse Issue

Nobody Can be Sure Now What Is Law of the Land

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — Who is responsible for the plight of the 16,400 students in Arkansas and Virginia where certain public schools have been closed since Sept. 8? An objective outline of what the loss in school hours during the last three months Lawrence means to these students has just been given by Arthur S. Flemming, secretary of health, education, and welfare in Pres. Eisenhower's cabinet. He doesn't attempt to fix the blame but expresses the hope that "decisions" will be made soon by the local communities "that will result in the schools being opened, under policies that will be in harmony with decisions of the courts."

That's a very large order and, granting the best of intentions and the maximum of sincerity, the leaders in the communities affected can hardly make the "decisions" that will reopen the schools. For the supreme court, by its ruling on Sept. 29 has thrown into confusion the public school boards of several southern states. The court struck down the gradual plan of the school board of Little Rock and ordered immediate integration irrespective of the conditions prevailing there.

Nebulous Issue
Nobody really can be sure now exactly what the "law of the land" is today on integration in the public schools because the supreme court has issued contradictory rulings in the last few weeks.

Thus, only 13 out of 314,000 Negro pupils in the state of North Carolina have been accepted to attend "integrated" public schools—and all public schools are open. This is called ed obedience to the "law of the land."

In Arkansas, 76 Negroes out of 103,000 are attending "integrated" public schools which are attended also by approximately 4,700 white students. There are 33 Negroes enrolled at the graduate and undergraduate level in the eight state colleges in Arkansas which were formerly all-white. All but four of the state's high schools are open. Yet Arkansas is being lambasted as not complying with the "law of the land," though its record on school desegregation is better than that of some other states in the south.

In Alabama they have not yet admitted any Negroes to white public schools, but the supreme court ruled on Nov. 24 that the state's pupil-assignment law is constitutional and that the school authorities may apply 17 different standards in determining qualifications. Yet when the school board at Little Rock, admittedly operating in good faith, asked for more time to work out the problem by applying some of those same standards, the supreme court adamantly refused to grant any delay whatsoever.

Shouldn't the supreme court really have granted at least six months within which the Little Rock school board and the legislature of Arkansas might have tried the plan Alabama now is using? Was there any good reason for ignoring the pleas for time made by the local school board at Little Rock, whose members the supreme court openly said were sincere and could be trusted?

The school board at Little Rock had the support of the "moderates" and their spokesmen in the press. But the supreme court sternly refused to give any weight to the chaotic conditions which the tragic school year of 1957-58 had brought about in Little Rock.

What can Little Rock do now? The legislature can pass a new law taking into account the high court's decision upholding the Alabama pupil-placement law. Also, the local school boards in Arkansas and Virginia can find encouragement in the words of the act passed by congress last summer with respect to scholarships and financial aid for education from the government. It reads:

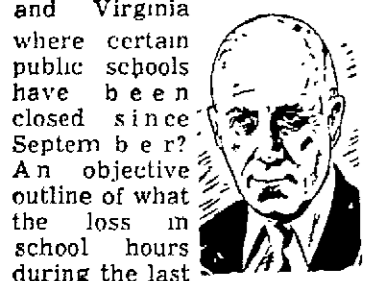

"The congress reaffirms the principle and declares that the states and local communities have and must retain control over and primary responsibility for public education."
"Nothing contained in this act shall be construed to authorize any department, agency, officer, or employee of the United States to exercise any direction, supervision, or control over the curriculum, program of instruction, administration, or personnel of any educational institution or school system."

This, too, is the "law of the land" as viewed by congress. (Copyright 1958)

Honest Budgeting by Thomson

Gov.-elect Nelson has been doing some grumbling in the public prints about the gravity of the financial situation with which he will be required to wrestle as he prepares his own budget recommendations as the first order of business of the new state administration.

But in point of fact there is an aspect of the financial record of the departing Thomson Republican administration for which the new governor ought to be grateful, and for which he ought to utter a public statement of thanks, if such activities were fashionable in partisan political competition.

It has been disclosed that for the first time in some years there won't be a need for sizeable deficiency appropriations when the new legislature meets. A deficiency appropriation, in the bureaucratic lingo of the capitol, is an authorization by a succeeding legislature making good the financial commitments of its predecessor.

Usually in the past, because some of the bigger budget items such as public welfare and educational aids are hard to calculate, the legislature has appropriated less than the statutes call for in expenditures. Sometimes the deficiencies have amounted to millions. Sometimes too, it ought to be noted, legislatures have appropriated on the low side by design. It is a method of making a budget appear smaller than it is.

This year the new legislature, for all of the problems of budget-balancing that it will face, won't have to pay any bills incurred by its predecessor under the Republican leadership of 1957. The aids promised have been appropriated, counted against the preceding budget, and will be paid. The Thomson budget was an honest one. Indeed, in a couple of instances there will be lapsed appropriations, meaning the Nelson administration will get bonuses in unexpended funds of the Thomson regime.

There was a little incident before the emergency board the other day that illustrated nicely this detail of state financing. The county fair associations asked for a deficiency appropriation, claiming the money made available for aids to them by the last legislature was not enough to meet the subsidy formula the legislature had provided. Gov. Thomson turned to the record to find what he had recommended. He found that his own budget recommendation would have been adequate. The legislature cut back his calculations, with the result that the emergency board a year later had to make good the deficit.

Only One Drink, Nikita

Premier Khrushchev's request for a round-the-table discussion on the problem of Berlin and a chance "to drink toasts with our wartime allies" doesn't seem to be going over with the West. Our State department has shrugged off the request as part of the standard offer of the Russians when things get a bit thick. The socialist mayor of West Berlin is ready and willing to fight indefinitely and even the French are not rising to the bait.

Khrushchev has been making an attempt to go back in history in his approach to the French representative to whom he said, "Your country, like ours, has suffered often enough from German aggression." But this year he might as well go back a little farther and warn hysterically about the beast Napoleon and the dreadful days when French troops swept across Poland and into Russia.

The years of intrigue, nasty accusations, broken promises and threats seem to have changed even the well-warranted French fear of a German resurgence. No French leader can be more anti-Nazi than Charles De Gaulle, but his recent victory over French communists in the French national elections is an expression of his and the French people's attitude toward present-day Reds.

Civilization and the Kaiapos

A tiny group of Indians down in Brazil represents the problems facing thousands of aborigines as they hang suspended between their wild old ways and the benefits of civilization.

The Kaiapos live at Las Casas, a group of dark native huts surrounding a white-washed Government Indian Protection Service house. Las Casas is six days on foot through heavy forest from the nearest town. In all directions there is only more forest or the waving grass of the savannah.

The Kaiapos used to be hunters. Their pagan religion gave them reasons for their primitive rituals and way of life. But they have lost touch with the bow and arrow and there is no more ammunition for the few old shotguns they possess. Christianity, while not forced on them, derides the old ways. The Indian Service missionaries, a group of kind and dedicated men, try to help them learn to net fish in the small rivers, to build canoes, to plant rice and manioc for flour, and to raise livestock.

But it is a sorry business. There is not enough medicine to treat the diseases caught from white men to which the Indians have no natural immunity. And that stimulus, that answer to the question "Why?" which must be more than merely slaying alive, seems to be missing. The old ways are forever gone with the occasional airplane that lands on the small airstrip and the instructions of civilized man. But the new ways are baffling, frustrating and without good reason.

Hundreds of thousands of primitive peoples still live in the rain forests, the jungles and the plains of South America. It will be a long time before they are truly civilized. Today, we must increasingly wonder exactly what that term really means.

of Klawock. He was first vice president of the Alaska Constitutional convention and is a merchant by trade. His closest opponent for the senate presidency is William Bellz, an Eskimo, now head carpenter on a defense project in the far distant village of Unalakleet. Both men are veteran legislators with considerable parliamentary experience.

Contact among various races in some places is a serious and difficult matter to solve and it cannot be shrugged off or taken lightly. But neither can it be blinked away by kowtowing to the traditions of the past or the continual throwing up of artificial obstacles. Alaska and Hawaii can teach a lot of other Americans a good deal about this subject.

Trade School Tax Powers An Irritant

From The Wisconsin Tax News

The unique taxing power of the boards of vocational and adult education in Wisconsin is creating much dissension in city halls this fall, particularly with common councils finding themselves having to say no to city departments but powerless to influence the 1959 spending plans of the trade schools.

Fiscal prudence is causing the aldermen to reject pay increase requests of city agencies while the dependent income of the vocational schools permits them to ignore generally higher municipal finance and general city increases regardless of their effect on morale of other city employees.

It may be legal but hardly ethical.

The members of the common council are elected by the people and are responsible to them and reflect their wishes. The vocational school board, on the other hand, is responsible to no electors and must justify its spending plans to no one if total cost does not exceed what can be raised by a rate of $2 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

These boards never should have been given the power to tax without representation. Their arrogance this fall demonstrates how that power can be abused.

Scorn of Processed Cheese Gets Reaction Sharp as Aged Cheddar

From The Wisconsin State Journal

Politicians successful at the polls can, without too much mock modesty, say that the voters are a mighty intelligent bunch of people.

But not Gov.-elect Gaylord Nelson, who pointed a chiding and critical finger at the millions of Americans who are foolish enough to buy and eat processed cheese.

Mr. Nelson, invited to the annual convention of the Wisconsin Cheese Makers association in Madison, compared processed cheese to "processed rubber that ought not to be served any place or any time." The reaction of the cheesemakers was about as sharp as the aged cheddars they were showing at the convention.

To be sure, the governor-elect laid the blame for this stupidity, on the part of the cheese-buying public, to lack of education. And Mr. Nelson is for more education — as who isn't, since the Russian sputniks?

The serious lover of good cheese may share Mr. Nelson's scorn for some of the bland and innocuous processed blends on the market. But if Mr. Nelson is speaking as the next chief executive of America's cheese and dairy center rather than as a gourmet, he will have to admit that processed cheeses and cheese spreads consume a lot of milk from a lot of Wisconsin dairy cows. This, too, is a market, and it is being filled.

The independent Wisconsin cheese producers (and the major national dairy corporations whose motives

If Shoe Fits—Then We're Republican

From The Marion Advertiser

As a general conclusion, we decree a situation which finds the federal government deeply in debt, a state government with its obligations, counties, cities, school districts, churches, and the majority of individuals all in debt. If it is Republican to believe governments, organizations, and individuals should provide for the orderly retirement of debts rather than stalling them off for future generations to reckon with — then we most certainly are Republican.

They will attend a conference on the matter in Madison on Dec. 22nd.

Very many prominent citizens know that the rivers can be easily and cheaply improved so as to furnish all navigation for steamers and barges. They should interest themselves to induce Congress to make a liberal appropriation for the work.

Dems to Get Control Of Utility Commission

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — In all of the major themes of Democratic party propaganda in Wisconsin during the last decade of growing strength, there has been no more consistent refrain than the idea that the utilities of the state have not been under effective state regulation and must be brought to heel.

As the public service corporations under the pressure of inflated payrolls and other operating costs have sought rate adjustments from the public service commission during the last ten years, there have been some angry reactions among the rate payers which the party was eager to exploit and which it did exploit to an effective degree in the last campaign. Some of the successful candidates said flatly that the utilities were guilty of gouging the public, and promised that they would provide remedies and relief if they were voted into high office at Madison.

NOW THEN

It is fair to suggest, therefore, that the Democrats will have their opportunity, perhaps sooner than they really expected.

Normally a governor must win at least two terms to get control of the public service commission, the principal duty of which is public utility regulation. As it turns out, however, Gov.-elect Nelson will be able to take control of that agency during his first year in office.

The term of Commission Chairman George Steinmetz, a career engineer of the staff who was elevated to the commission seat by former Gov. Walter J. Kohler, will end in the normal course of affairs next spring. Nelson can replace him if he chooses, and it is generally supposed that he will so choose. But the commission also has a short term member, Ed Krawczyk, who has not yet been confirmed by the state senate and thus has no real tenure in the job. He will be out with the turn of the year, and Nelson doubtless will replace him also. The only survivor of the Republican regime will be Arthur Padruitt.

Some of the liberal journals have headlined that prospect with great emphasis, as if to imply that at long last there is going to be some change ordered in public utility regulation policy.

But others are not so sure, at least those who are acquainted with the law on the matter, and the supreme court interpretation of that law.

At issue is the rate of return permitted to the franchised and regulated utilities, the profit factor. The law says merely that charges to the public must be "just and reasonable."

As that phrase has been interpreted historically by the regulatory body, it embraces a zone of reasonableness. In recent years most cases have been resolved with a rate of return of around six per cent, sometimes a little less, sometimes a little more. About 5.75 per cent to 6.5 per cent would cover the range.

As the courts have refined the matter, the duty of the commission is to permit rates high enough to avoid confiscation, and low enough to prevent exorbitant charges.

The question that arises is how the new Democratic administration can make good its promise, implicit at the very least, to cut the public service corporation charges. Atty. Gen.-elect John W. Reynolds has proposed, for one thing, the creation of a kind of public defender's office in his department to act as a watchdog over the commission staff.

Such legislation, of course, would be a direct indictment of the competence and the integrity of the several hundreds of persons now working on rate matters as members of the professional staff of the commission.

Such an indictment will be difficult to put across in a capital where the professional staff of the commission has been noted for decades for its loyalty, skill and devotion to the public interest.

Sen. Proxmire Bewilders His Home Towners

From The Chicago Tribune

The sudden rash of conservatism attributed to Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin by astonished correspondents to whom he defined his post-election outlook in Washington is, if correctly represented, one of the miracles of the day.

Mr. Proxmire, as a very junior senator during the last session, was credited with introducing spending bills representing an amount variously estimated at between 23 and 35 billion dollars.

Now he expresses fear of inflation and announces a determination to fight excessive expenditures. He says that wage increases are outrunning the productivity of the worker, and that is bad. He reverses a previous judgment that Republicans are to be trusted with everything but public office, saying that, of course, he would trust them in public office. He is opposed to federal control of education, and he calls farm price support and subsidized surpluses a discredited approach.

Mr. Proxmire, tho for some years resident in Wisconsin, is a Lake Forest product, and his Democratic affiliation and past addiction to giddy liberalism probably caused shudders of horror and revulsion around the Onwentsia club. Perhaps, like the late George Apley, he has found that it is impossible to escape the sense of responsibility imposed by heritage and environment.

Council Control of School Jobs Sought

Tews Wants Aldermen to Pass Plans, Before and After Bids

The city council would exert considerably more control of public school construction if it adopts a procedure sought Wednesday by Ald. Alvin E. Tews.

His resolution, referred to the board of public works for a legal opinion, would set this policy:

Council approval of plans and specifications must be obtained before bids are asked.

Sale of bonds must be withheld until bids are taken, and approved by the council.

The mayor and city clerk, and whatever governing board required by law, must sign the construction contract.

All bids must remain firm for 90 days from time of submission.

The board of education until now has never sought council approval of plans and specifications except in informal meetings with some aldermen. Nor has the council ever officially required its approval.

Bids once taken also never have been sent the council or been sought by the council.

Bonds sometimes have been sold in advance of bids, but this was stopped when more than $300,000 surplus turned up in a bond issue after construction of Lincoln and Richmond schools.

Bond money is earmarked and cannot be spent except for construction of the school or schools named. That leaves the city in the position of possibly having to pay more in interest on the excess borrowed than it can obtain in interest through investment.

Legal Question

(The board of education currently is proposing to use some of the Lincoln-Richmond bond surplus for construction of an addition at Richmond school.)

The mayor and clerk have never been required to sign school construction contracts. To require their signatures, School Supt. John P. Mann said today, probably involves a legal question.

Contractors have never been asked to hold their bids firm for any period of time. The board of education, Mann said, has worked informally with contractors to assure firm bids until after bonding procedures (which take about 90 days) are complete.

Mann said a legal opinion would be required to iron out whether the resolution invades prerogatives of the school board. He said state law seems specific that the board of education is empowered to act as the board of public works and, as such, need not submit to a final approving authority.

Cites Other Buildings

Ald. Kenneth Priebe moved to refer the resolution for a legal opinion after it was introduced for immediate adoption.

The resolution cited "new schools and any public buildings or additions to existing schools or public buildings." The board of public works already controls other public buildings and employs Tews' suggested policy.

There is one other exception. The water commission orders public buildings and improvements. Its latest building project, the $750,000 water plant work of two years ago, was financed through revenue bonds.

allowance was all used for political purposes."

Mrs. Harvey Gygi contended Weber's salary is too high for the work accomplished, he's never available to pick up stray dogs and he takes credit for work he doesn't do. "Mrs. Erlanson," she went on, "gets only $100 a month and no car allowance, but goes out to pick up dogs at all hours of the day or night, makes regular rounds of eating places to pick up food and gives those animals excellent care."

City Improvements

The mayor admitted the city's shelter was not what it should be and stated several improvements, including an electric heater with thermostat control, would be installed immediately.

"A dog has a hard chance for existence in Appleton," lamented Fred Rehfeldt, chairman of the meeting and president of the Humane society. "Many city ordinances make it so. It's become a hardship to keep a pet in the city and every child is entitled to a pet. We've got good kids in town, but with pets they might be even better."

Mayor Mitchell, quoting from city records, noted that in 1850 when the city council, of which Rehfeldt was then a member, voted to appropriate the $1,000 but recommended the money be discontinued in the future, Rehfeldt was not present for voting.

In Debt

The Humane society now operates with $1,000 from the county and the remainder from private donations. A treasurer's report presented by Harley Splitt stated the society had receipts of $2,208 and expenses of $2,682 during the year. Private donations which have come in since first mention of closing the shelter amount to about $400, it was noted, and should keep the shelter in operation for a while.

One man suggested the city eliminate the dog pound and dog catcher and give all the money it spends on that operation to the Humane society. This brought approving shouts and applause.

When Mrs. Gygi quoted one alderman as telling her no one on the council would vote a nickel to the society, another woman contended, "Where's the dog loving public at election time? If you have the interests of the dog at heart, you should remember that at election time."

Miss Olga Smith suggested the city increase its dog license fee and give the difference between the present rate and the increase to the Humane society. State law requires that all fees collected by policemen be put into the police pension fund.

Cat Licenses

Mayor Mitchell also noted the city's policy of sending policemen to the homes of dog owners to collect license fees would be discontinued since, he said, it was costing the city from $5,000 to $6,000 to collect about $1,800.

A woman recommended license fees also be charged for cats, since "they're more destructive than dogs." This also drew applause.

Another suggestion that all female mongrels be spayed to cut down on the stray dog

Driver Who Rammed Old Tree Wins Suit Against 3 Counties

Chilton — A "liberty" tree of great age survived an automobile accident July 21, 1956, but had to share the blame for the crash in a law suit completed Wednesday night after a 3-day trial in circuit court.

A jury took three and a half hours Wednesday to decide Calumet, Sheboygan and Fond du Lac counties were 75 per cent responsible for the accident and awarded Gerald Kornetzke, 25, a former rural Elkhart Lake resident now living in Milwaukee, $7,500 in damages, half of what he asked.

The tree stands in a boulevard in the center of County Trunk Q about two miles west of St. Anna and marks the meeting of the three counties. Suffered injuries

Claims Japan Still Has Much Sickness Because of A-Bomb

Houston, Texas — Japan still has many sick people as a result of the atomic bomb dropped on Hiroshima in 1945, a Japanese scientist said Tuesday.

Dr. Takeo Nagamiya, professor of physics at Osaka university, told reporters that nuclear radiation from the A-bomb still is claiming lives. Nagamiya is here for a chemical research conference.

population was met with dis-senting shouts.

"A dog is a dog, just like a human," cried one woman.

When Splitt contended closing of the Humane society shelter would make facilities in the city's pound inadequate, Mitchell noted only city council action could consolidate both operations. He suggested the group petition the city council to reconsider its action in turning down the $1,000 request.

The group also called upon Peter Melchior and Mrs. Splitt, both attorneys, to draft a resolution asking the city for more money.

Among those present was a delegation from a Tri-Hi-Y club. They said their group is attempting to raise money for the project and would try to influence other young people's clubs to do the same.

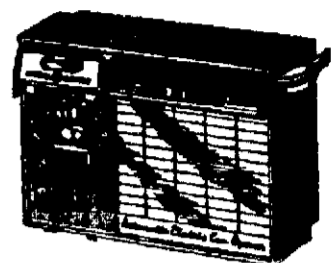

The citizens committee will meet again Jan. 14.

Democratic Fight In Assembly Looms

Former Floorleader Says He'll Be Candidate for Speaker Post

BY JOHN WYNGAARD Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The election of a speaker in the Democratic Wisconsin assembly in January has not yet been settled, contrary to some impressions and some earlier leader of the Democratic minority in the lower house of the legislature for several sessions, said flatly in an interview here that he will be a candidate for the office of speaker against Assemblyman George Molinaro of Kenosha.

Some earlier accounts, inspired by party sources, have had it that Molinaro would be nominated and elected by acclamation when the assembly convenes Jan. 14 with the first Democratic majority since 1933. Fifty-five Democrats will out-vote the 45 Republicans in the new assembly.

The original report about Molinaro's expected election was published in the pro-Democratic Madison newspaper and was distributed widely elsewhere because of the assumption that it was authoritative.

But Huber seemed annoyed about the public impression that he is choosing not to aim for the top office of the house, which would be his natural aspiration after several years of leadership of the Democratic caucus when it was a minority in the chamber.

Fight Upcoming He said he is now informing returning Democrats and newly-elected members that he is a candidate and is determined to make a fight when the Democrats meet before the session to organize, probably early in January.

Molinaro, in talks with friends recently, has claimed 40 votes of the house majority of 55 Democrats.

He has been the assistant floorleader of the Democrats for several terms.

In another development, Assemblyman Charles Schmidt of Milwaukee, a veteran of three terms, has announced that he is a candidate for party floorleader. He will likely contest with either Huber or Molinaro, depending on who loses his speakership bid.

land since Fagerholm left the communists out of his government although they had become the largest parliamentary bloc in the elections last July.

To pay World war II reparations, many Finnish industries were adapted to Russian needs and now lack western markets. Early last month the Russians cut off some imports from Finland and have since refused to receive a Finnish trade delegation.

Unemployment has been increasing recently by about 6,000 a week and now stands at 65,000 in a nation of 4,315,000 persons. At this time last year there were 44,000 jobless.

The communists reportedly plan mass demonstration in Helsinki next Tuesday to back up their demands for a voice in the government. They have not been in a cabinet since 1948.

Support for Reds

The reds, who have 50 seats in the 200-member parliament, have been supported in the opposition by 13 dissident members of Fagerholm's own social democratic party. The premier's wing of the social democrats control 37 seats and have 52 allied members of small parties.

This gives the balance of power to the 48 agrarians under Party Leader Johannes Virolainen. The party voted last week to quit the government but Foreign Minister Virolainen did not lead it out until today.

The agrarians accused Fagerholm of causing a deterioration of trade and diplomatic relations with the neighboring Soviet Union and contended that only a new government could improve relations. Fagerholm charged the agrarians with trying to bring down his government for purely internal political reasons.

4 Youngsters Make $1,379 'Haul' in Chicago Toylands

Chicago — Four children — cheered on by mobs of Christmas shoppers — were turned loose in the dazzling world of downtown toy department Wednesday with permission to "take all you can in five minutes—free."

The haul? Bicycles, dolls, trains, balls and a wagon amounting to more than $1,379 retail.

The kids, three boys and a girl, won a State street council contest to name the elfin-like figures atop new lightpoles down the loop thoroughfare. The council fooled the bill.

One boy, 11-year-old Dennis Gray, lost a few seconds untangling two bicycles from a rack, but made up by grabbing boxes 10 deep in his arms.

Gayle Longwitz, 10, who two weeks ago had her arm in a cast, clutched six dolls at one crack and made several return trips.

Advance Planning In another store, Leonard Belanger, 12, benefited from some advance planning.

"Lenny and I mapped out the toy department during 10 recent visits," his mother said.

Young Belanger first seized a bicycle and wheeled it to a cart. All the toys had to fit in the wagon, according to rules.

Then came dolls for his sister, two sets of trains, two more bikes, toy guns, games and a record player.

Meanwhile, 9-year-old Donald Gogins dashed away with three bikes, dolls for his three sisters and a space helmet.

When it was over, one parent posed this question: "What will we get them all for Christmas now?"

Boating Committee Approves Plan for Motorboat License

Madison — The legislative council's boating committee Wednesday approved a proposal calling for a 3-year license costing $3 for motorboats operating on Wisconsin waters.

Reviewing a draft of a measure to be submitted to the 1959 legislature, the committee agreed that some relief from fees should be given non-profit and religious groups, such as the Boy Scouts. The draft contained a special provision for boat livers, giving operators the option of a flat 25-cent fee.

Chairman Trinke, R-Lake Geneva, said the measure was intended only to meet the cost of licensing and enforcing safety regulations, and not as a revenue producer.

Alert Enforcement Can Curb Bombings, State Sheriffs Told

Wausau — Wisconsin sheriffs were told Wednesday that bombings and threatened bombings of educational and religious institutions can be materially curbed by an aroused public and alert law enforcement agencies.

That was the assertion of Daniel W. Fuels, agent in charge of the Milwaukee office of the FBI. He called such incidents "outrages."

Fuels spoke at the convention of the Wisconsin Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs association.

"We have no miracle drug or crystal ball to prevent bombings," Fuels said, "but close cooperation of all agencies will result in better handling of disaster situations and in preventing them from developing."

Ike Arranging Meeting With GOP Officials

Nixon Expected to Air His Views on National Problems

Washington — President Eisenhower is arranging a mid-December meeting with Republican congressional leaders in an attempt to cement party unity behind his legislative program.

Vice President Nixon and the GOP managers of both houses are expected to get an opportunity at this session to make any suggestions they may have for program changes before Eisenhower wraps up his state of the union, budget and economic messages in final form.

Final Decisions

Their conference will differ in this respect from a scheduled Jan. 5 meeting at which Eisenhower will brief leaders of both parties on the final decisions made on the defense and foreign aid programs.

With the Republican representation in the senate and house sharply reduced by widespread election defeats, Eisenhower obviously hopes for more solid GOP backing for his proposals than he has had at time in past congresses.

The White House conference apparently will give Nixon an opportunity to voice any ideas he may have about the program. His expected bid for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination will be affected significantly by the administration's record during the next two years.

Although he sits in on cabinet and national security council sessions, Nixon is not among those who work closely with the president in such matters as determining the size of the budget and in deciding on specific legislative recommendations.

Federal Spending

Eisenhower and Nixon apparently are agreed on what they regard as the necessity for holding down over-all federal spending to combat inflation. At the same time both want to keep foreign aid assistance at a high level.

During the political campaign period, however, Nixon tossed out some ideas indicating he would like to see the administration move into fields where Eisenhower is not expected to venture.

Among other things, Nixon said the expected $12 billion deficit in the current fiscal year ought not to rule out some drastic tax revisions aimed at stimulating business. He suggested substitution of a general manufacturers' sales tax for the present series of selective excise taxes.

Nelson Parents Stand to Borrow Highway Funds

Madison — Gov.-elect Gaylord Nelson reiterated Wednesday night his position that Wisconsin should change its constitution to permit borrowing money for highway construction and state buildings.

He addressed members of the Democratic party of Dane county and said the state's pay-as-you-go method of financing road building and educational institutions was hurting the state's industrial growth.

He said the state's highway situation is growing worse each year in comparison with neighboring states, particularly Minnesota and Michigan, which borrow to pay for construction.

Nelson said he favored selling bonds to raise necessary money. He charged the state is 10 years behind in highway development.

UW Coed Wins $800 Scholarship From National 4-H Group

Chicago — Judith Kraemer, Sheboygan Falls, a 20-year-old University of Wisconsin coed, today was awarded an $800 home economics scholarship at the 37th National 4-H Club congress.

A national award—one of 12—also was presented to Donald James McNeill, 21, route 2, Mineral Point, for his work in recreation. He won an all-expense paid trip to the congress.

In other activities Wednesday night, Donald Schink of Jefferson was elected a vice president of the National association of County 4-H Agents. The organization also saluted R. J. Rensink of Manitowoc county, one of six men honored by the organization for their contributions to 4-H club work.

grams, which will require 212 more positions, he said.

Evidently apprehensive about those figures, Schmidt said his own budget reviews had deleted 224 other positions asked by his subordinate institution chiefs and others, because of his realization of the state's financial pressures.

Delete Positions

Schmidt said he wants to spend about $2,000,000 during the next two years on program changes and improvements.

About $36,000,000 will be required to operate the long list of institutions under the department's supervision, most of which are more expensive to operate because of extensive reconstruction lately, and most of which also are getting a greater flow of patients and inmates.

The department director also explained carefully that although the ratio of employees to patients at some of the institutions seems high, those facilities are required to operate around the clock, and thus require four shifts to maintain year-around service.

Difficulty Explaining

In many previous budget hearings, welfare officials have had difficulty explaining the size of their institution department comptroller is payrolls. Schmidt, a former more intimately familiar with the department's fiscal details than were some of his predecessors.

That the huge budget may not be the end of the welfare spending story was suggested when the department director said he has not taken into account new proposals endorsed by interim legislative committees—including a new institution for the care of emotionally disturbed children, and a program of state subsidy for county child guidance clinics.

The burly, articulate welfare department chief told Nelson he knows "the total increase requested in this budget is considerable."

But, he added, "most of the increase proposed in this budget is dictated by the needs of the existing programs and is required if about the same quality of service as now provided, considering increasing populations and costs, is to be maintained."

De Gaulle Told of Algerian Problems

Bone, Algeria — Premier Charles de Gaulle today got on-the-spot estimates of the problems facing his 5-year economic plan designed to bring peace to rebellious Algeria.

Escorted by top military and economic advisers, de Gaulle arrived by helicopter from Constantine on the second day of his 5-day Algerian trip.

Spread out along the walls of the prefecture were maps and charts outlining development plans and problems for eastern Algeria where vast mineral wealth lies beneath deserts and poor farming land.

De Gaulle also visited a resettlement project where 15,000 Moslems have been moved into newly constructed houses.

Paris Paper Gagged Over Paragraph

L'Express Allowed To Publish Friday With Words Deleted

Paris — The free-swinging weekly newspaper L'Express was seized by police and failed to appear on newsstands today because of an attack on the Algerian record of Information Minister Jacques Soustelle.

The defense ministry rescinded its seizure order when the paper agreed to publish Friday with an offending paragraph removed.

The paper is one of the few anti-communist journals in open opposition to many of the policies of Premier De Gaulle. It is a firm supporter of former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who lost his seat in the national assembly in the recent elections after opposing De Gaulle's new constitution.

De Gaulle on Trip L'Express has often been seized in the past for similar attacks on government ministers and on actions of the French Army in Algeria. But this was the first seizure of an independent newspaper in metropolitan France since De Gaulle came to power last May.

Perhaps significantly, De Gaulle is out of Paris on a 5-day trip through Algeria.

The offending paragraph in L'Express said that during and just after Soustelle's tenure as governor general of Algeria some 22,000 Moslems had been arrested and 3,000 of these "became cadavers."

Reliable sources said Soustelle himself was angered by the defense department order to seize the paper. He reportedly feared the publicity given the action would be bad and the offending paragraph—in a long article criticizing Soustelle and his new political party—was not important enough to warrant such a stir.

Soustelle already has been accused of suppressing comment on the French national radio and television network. His information ministry has been accused of filling the radio and television staffs with trusted people to the detriment of former employees.

59 Twin Cities Persons to Go To CD Meeting

Industrial Survival Conference to be at North Shore Club

Neenah — Fifty reservations already have been received for the industrial survival conference at the North Shore Golf club Tuesday, the chamber of commerce office announced today.

Reservations will still be received Friday from persons planning to attend the meeting scheduled for representatives of industry, business, transportation and municipalities.

Twin City firms already sending representatives include George Banta company, Bergstrom Paper company, Edgewater Paper company, Gilbert Paper company, Hardwood Products corporation, Kimberly-Clark corporation, Marathon division of American Can company, First National bank of Menasha, First National Bank of Neenah, Northern Transportation company and E and R Construction company.

Also attending will be Public Works Director Wayne G. Bryan, Police Chief Irving H. Stulp and Fire Chief John Zick, representing Neenah, representatives of the Menasha police force and fire department, State Sen. William A. Draheim and John Klein, Chamber of Commerce president.

Leonard D. Pasek, assistant to the president of Kimberly-Clark corporation, is serving as chairman for the program. On the steering committee from the Twin Cities is Robert D. Suess of Marathon division.

Elks Memorial Service Set

New Lutheran Pastor to Speak At Annual Rites

Neenah — The annual Elks memorial service, honoring the memory of members who died in the preceding year, has been set for 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Elks lodge rooms.

Officers of the lodge will present the memorial ritual and the Elks memorial address will be presented by the Rev. Robert C. Jacobson, pastor of St. Timothy Lutheran church.

Miss Judy Van Alstine will be soloist, accompanied by Miss Lois Germuga. Her selections will include "Disconsolate" and "Abide with Me."

Deceased members of the lodge to be honored in the service are Victor Suess, William A. Ritchie, John A. Ten Eick, Jacob Liebl, Gustav A. Schueler, William J. Loehning, Peter J. Kasel and John W. O'Leary.

The services are open to the public as well as to Elks and members of their families.

In charge of arrangements for the services are Robert Pagel, chairman, Richard Laemmrich, Milton Boehm and P. R. Rundquist.

Correction

Neenah — Miss Irene Stinson was incorrectly listed as car driven by Frank D. Taylor. Mrs. Irene Stinson, Wednesday's Post-Crescent in the turn was struck by a car list of new inductees of the driven by Leon Linsten. Nav-George Banta company, Inc., 25-year club.

Foundations Have Been Dug and footings laid for an assembly hall and motor vehicle shed addition at the United States Army Reserve Training center, Menasha. One of the footings is shown above. The project will cost an estimated $90,000 and is expected to be completed in July.

Menasha Playground Centers Set for Yule

3 Buildings, Ice Skating Shelter Will be Opened for the Holidays

Menasha — Indoor playground centers at the Butte des Morts and Jefferson grade school gymnasiums and at the Memorial building will be operated by the recreation department during Christmas vacation, Robert Vanevenhoven, recreation director, announced today.

E. Cecil, Oak Corner Scene Of Two Crashes

Mrs. Ernest Kruse Hospitalized After Neenah Accident

Neenah — The corner of E Cecil and Oak streets was the scene of two accidents Wednesday afternoon, 3 1/2 hours apart.

Mrs. Ernest G. Kruse, 202 Washington avenue, received a concussion and cuts on the head and face when the car, she was driving and a pickup truck driven by Fred J. Krueger, 309 Chute street, Menasha, collided at 1:50 p.m. Wednesday. She was taken to Theda Clark hospital in the Neenah ambulance.

Mrs. Kruse was headed south on Oak street and the truck was going west on E Cecil street. The Kruse car ended on the terrace at the side of the F. A. Nichols home on the southwest corner.

Cars driven by Mrs. Ronald Dietz, route 1, Neenah, headed east on Cecil street, and Margaret Cowling, 1131 Higgins avenue, headed south on Oak street, were damaged in a collision at that corner at 4:15 p.m. Wednesday.

Three cars were involved in a line-of-traffic accident at Main and Harrison streets. Ralph O. Martens, 819 Henry street, came to a stop, and Mrs. Kruse was struck in the rear by a car driven by Frank D. Taylor. Mrs. Irene Stinson, Wednesday's Post-Crescent in the turn was struck by a car list of new inductees of the driven by Leon Linsten. Nav-George Banta company, Inc., 25-year club.

Council Outlaws Sale of Beer to Persons Under 21

Possession by Minors, Age Falsification Illegal in Neenah

Neenah — "The next move is up to the parents," Mayor Bell and Neenah aldermen expressed as the council by a 9 to 1 vote Wednesday night passed a broader and stricter ordinance setting 21 as the minimum age limit for the purchase and possession of beer.

Only Ald. Kenneth E. Parman voted against the ordinance. A month ago the council granted a beer bar license to Parman. A storm of protests followed, capped by petitions with 4,080 signers.

Parman voted in the negative both on a motion to substitute a stricter ordinance for the original one and also on the passage of the revised ordinance.

After the meeting, Ald. Parman told reporters he did not know when he would be opening the beer bar at 700 Main street for which he received the license. He indicated he plans to keep the license however.

It would not keep teenagers from getting beer because of getting beer as they can go to places just outside Neenah and legally secure beer.

The revised ordinance contains three major provisions: 1. "No persons shall sell, dispense, give or furnish any fermented malt beverage in the city of Neenah to any person under the age of 21 years unless such minor is accompanied by his or her parent, or guardian, or adult spouse. This section shall not apply to minors handling fermented malt beverages in unopened containers in the course of their employment."

2. "No minor shall misrepresent his or her age for the purpose of obtaining fermented malt beverages."

The original ordinance applied only to the sale or furnishing of beer and did not include the possession by those under 21 years of age or the misrepresentation of age among its provisions. Violations call for forfeitures of from $1 to $200 or jail terms not exceeding 90 days in the county jail.

4,080 Signers

Mayor Bell pointed to the 4,080 signatures on the petitions circulated by a voluntary citizens group headed by Jack Casper, Boys' Brigade coordinator, and added he himself had received about 25 letters from organizations, churches and persons urging passage of the ordinance.

Ald. Warren Sanders moved the revised ordinance be passed after Ald. James Dinius had moved for the substitution of the revised ordinance for the original one. Both passed by 9 to 1 votes.

Ald. Leonard Hedberg said, in view of the position he

Oshkosh Youths Appear in Court On New Charge

Oshkosh — Dale Jungwirth, 22, and David L. Halsey, 24, both of Oshkosh, made their second appearance in municipal court in as many days when they returned to answer grand larceny charges this morning.

Wednesday morning they were charged with entering a dwelling without the owner's consent and creating a disturbance. Halsey also was charged with carrying a concealed weapon and pointing a firearm. They are alleged to have entered the home of Miss Ruth Dillman, Oshkosh, early Wednesday morning.

The pair was arrested at 7 p.m. Wednesday for the theft of tools and a tire from the unlocked trunk of a car which was parked in front of a Harrison street tavern. The stolen items were found in Jungwirth's car by Oshkosh police.

Jungwirth pleaded guilty to the larceny charge and Judge S. J. Luchsinger deferred judgment until Dec. 12 when he will appear on the entering charge. He pleaded innocent on Wednesday.

Halsey pleaded innocent of larceny and his trial was set for Dec. 12. He had pleaded innocent to the entering and pointing a firearm charge and trial had been set for the same day. Preliminary examination on the concealed weapon charge will be held Dec. 11.

Judge Luchsinger set Halsey's bond at $100 on the larceny charge.

Bell Renames Three Members To Park Board

Council Designates McKinley School As 4th Ward Polls

Neenah — Three park board members whose terms expire this month were re-named for additional 3-year terms at Wednesday night's council meeting.

Mayor Bell appointed Ira Caple, present park board chairman, Henry Krueger, secretary, and James Crust, named last spring to complete the term of Clyde Buxton, to additional terms. The appointments were confirmed by the aldermen. Both Caple and Krueger have served on the park board since Jan. 1, 1949.

Aldermen also designated McKinley school gymnasium as the new Fourth ward polling place. Residents had voted in a booth on Adams street across from the school but this was felt to be too small since voters had to stay outside in inclement weather while waiting to vote.

Street improvement assessments were set at $1.56 a front foot for the Baldwin plat streets, $1.78 a foot on Peckham street from S. Commercial to Maple street and $1.82 a foot for the Glenayre park plat streets.

Jan 7 was set for a hearing on a change in the official map and street extension map for an east-west street between S. Park avenue and Congress street and for the connection of Eden drive and Peckham drive to that proposed street. The street is south of Cecil street.

Assessor Carlton F. Williams and Deputy Assessor Earl Page were authorized to attend the League of Wisconsin Municipalities assessors school at Milwaukee Dec. 10 to 12.

Krueger Seeks Aldermanic Post

Neenah — Gilbert E. Krueger, 418 Park drive, a designer employed at Central Paper company, took out nomination papers today for Fifth ward alderman.

He is the first candidate to announce for a council post. Krueger served one term as alderman up to last April when he did not seek reelection.

Nomination papers now are available at the office of City Clerk R. V. Hauser. Supv. Reinhold Grunski of the Eighth ward Wednesday took out papers for reelection to the county board post he has held for eight years.

Revoke License of Winnebago Driver

Oshkosh — Henry Millard, 66, Winnebago, was found guilty of hit and run driving, causing injury, by Judge S. J. Luchsinger in municipal court Wednesday afternoon.

Millard was fined $25 and costs but the judge suspended the fine and revoked his license for a year. Millard pleaded innocent on Oct. 23 when arraigned on a charge of striking a boy on a bicycle with his car and leaving the scene.

Tours of the New Wisconsin Telephone company office at Oshkosh preceded a dinner which ended a farm management short course for Winnebago county farmers. R. A. Diestler, left, Winnebago bank cashier, is listening to the time recording calls. Winnebago county banks and the phone company sponsored the dinner attended by 80 county farmers.

Dinner Ends Course On Farm Management

Willard Mueller, UW Professor, Speaks to Group

Oshkosh — More than 80 farmers of Winnebago county attended the recognition dinner and program of the farm management short course Wednesday night at the Wisconsin Telephone company building at Oshkosh.

The dinner concluded a short course dealing with the problems of farm management conducted over the last several weeks. Wednesday night's guest speaker was Willard Mueller, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Wisconsin.

He spoke on how vertical integration affects the farmer of today. Vertical integration, he said, refers to the bringing together of two or more phases of production or marketing. Actually, integration was in agriculture many years ago when the farmer did all the phases of production and marketing himself. Mueller declared.

Sponsor Program

Serving as chairman of the dinner was Donald J. Tripp, assistant county agricultural agent. The banks of Winnebago county and the Wisconsin Telephone company at Oshkosh were sponsors of the recognition program.

Previous discussion meetings in this series were conducted by A. O. Follett, farm management specialist, with the cooperation of the county extension office.

Named to plan a 1950 short course were Sam Roth, route 1, Omro; Arthur Plotz, route 2, Omro; Walter Ryt, route 2, Neenah; Glenn Stenke, route 1, Omro; and Francis Zeller, route 5, Oshkosh.

Driver Fined After Crash

Raymond Bart, 63, Neenah, to Pay $100, Loses License

Neenah — Raymond Bart, 63, 126 Douglas street, pleaded guilty of both drunken driving and not having a driver's license when arraigned before Police Justice E. P. Arpin this morning. He was fined $100 and costs for drunken driving and $5 and costs for not having a license.

His driver's license automatically was revoked. He tested .22 on a drunkometer test. He was arrested after an accident in front of 1007 Henry street at 7:20 p.m. Wednesday when his car struck a parked car owned by Delores L. Larsen, 1007 Henry street.

Neenah Council Sets Age Limit For Beer Sales

took two weeks ago and in view of the substitute ordinance and other things since, he had given serious thought to the matter.

"I fully realize the danger of teenage drinking and of teenage beer parties as such. I feel the ordinance will accomplish very little as all around us are places where they can buy beer. It is too easy to borrow the family car and go out to buy beer and have parties without supervision and these could lead to greater dangers than at taverns with police supervision. "Only the parents at home can solve the problem. This ordinance reduces the ease to buy beer and the number of trouble spots that could create nuisances. Therefore, I support the ordinance."

Plugs Loophole

Mayor Bell said the revised ordinance plugs a loophole that existed in the previous ordinance and is "definitely broader, very much stronger and more desirable."

Ald. Paul Hansen said it seemed to him well to emphasize the point of Ald. Hedberg that passage will not completely solve minor and juvenile beer drinking problems. "It places another deterrent."

"It needs the support of citizens of the community, including the furnishing of information and complaints of infractions to authorities so efforts here will bear fruit. If citizens behave in a way to help police enforce the ordinance, it will give backing to parents seeking control of their youngsters."

"The major part of the solution has to come from the homes themselves," he stressed.

The mayor repeated the parents and young people must arouse themselves to the ultimate aim of the ordinance if it is to be successful. It must be backed by parental education and supervision, he stressed.

First Aid, Safety Taught To Young Oshkosh Skiers

Oshkosh — The fundamentals of first aid and ski safety have been taught to a group of Oshkosh skiers in Wednesday evening sessions at the YMCA by Miss Candy Thomson, Oshkosh, director of the ski patrol at Mo-Ski-Tow Hill, New London.

Students were told that the main purpose of first aid is the prevention of accidents and when applied to skiing or a ski hill it means keeping the trails marked and free from obstructions, seeing that the rope tows are safe and cautioning skiers to ski within their ability and to stay under control.

In class discussion Miss Thomson spoke on different kinds of burns and how to treat them and one young student volunteered that butter think they're heroes for staying out in the cold.

The class continued with a written test to qualify members for their certificates and with students working on two "victims" — one with a broken leg and another who had a broken arm and whose breathing had stopped.

Senior Patrol

Most of the Oshkosh first aiders will be junior ski patrol members as only persons 18 years and over are eligible for the senior group. Senior members will continue their studies in an advanced course and both groups will meet at Mo-Ski-Tow hill for actual snow and hill training.

Completing the beginning course at Oshkosh were: Elmer Croissant, Omro, and Reinher Seuffer, senior members; Bruce McCain, Lucy Kummerow, Dick Moon, Sal Lewerenz, Bob Senderhau, Jeff Krohn, Dick Raddatz, Jim Stripe and Leni Wright.

Six Menasha Skating Rinks Being Flooded

Menasha — Park crews have begun flooding the city's six ice skating rinks, Park Supt. Harry Kargus has informed the park board.

Kargus said the rinks are being flooded each cold day and he hopes to have them ready for Christmas. Rinks are located at Smith, Racine, Garfield, Jefferson, Sixth street and Seventh street parks and playgrounds.

The board also discussed the possibility of replacing poles and lights at the Seventh street and Racine street rinks with permanent flood lights.

It was pointed out the poles are not safe for climbing and the cost of putting up and taking down lights each season is high. Kargus was authorized to check on costs of flood lights.

Kargus also will check on the cost of additional clothes racks for the Memorial building. The present 100 racks are not enough when 400 or 500 boys and girls use the building.

'Final Offer' in Eastern Strike

Miami — The International Association of Machinists made today what it termed a "final offer" to settle one of the two strikes which has shut down Eastern Air Lines since Nov. 24.

A wage increase of 40 cents an hour for inspectors and lead mechanics and 44 cents for other mechanics was demanded. If this is refused, the union advised its members to "tighten up those picket lines and dig in for a long fight!"

Meantime, a flight engineers' dispute with Eastern appeared stalemated.

Turkey Loyal Friend of U. S., Rotarians Hear

UW Extension Director Tells Of Country Today

Menasha — "Turkey is one of the most fascinating and important parts of the world and is a steady and loyal friend of the United States," Dr. L. H. Adolfson, director of the University of Wisconsin Extension division told Menasha Rotarians Wednesday afternoon.

Dr. Adolfson, who recently returned from Turkey where he served with a public administration group for 15 months, said Turkey has been the crossroad of civilization since man's beginning in the western world.

He pointed out Turkey is primarily an agricultural country with wheat the main crop. Cotton, tobacco, fruits and lumber are other major products and sheep and goats are raised by the millions.

"Turkey is still undeveloped although substantial

Conservation Club Plans Field Trip to Milwaukee Museum

Neenah — Forty-five members of the Neenah High school Conservation club will visit the Milwaukee museum Saturday, leaving the school at 7:30 a.m. and returning about 5:30 in the afternoon. Sharon Babcock is in charge of the trip planning.

Club members will hold a party from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 13 in the old gymnasium. Judi Caple is the party chairman.

Rabbit trapping will begin Dec. 10 and members have been building traps last week and this week.

strides are being made to foster an industrialized economy. Because all available resources are poured into certain basic industries, the country has been gripped by an inflation the last two or three years," the dean of the University of Wisconsin's summer school program, related.

Rich or Poor
People living in Turkey are either very rich or very poor. Some farmers and peasants often are better off than a college professor, Adolfson reported.

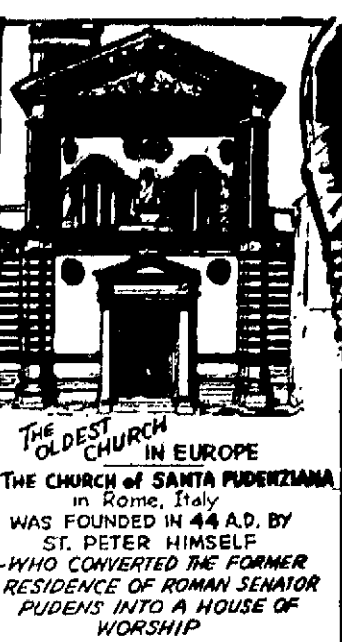

Another big drain on the country's resources is its military forces. Turkey, a highly militarized state, trains and equips 600,000 troops out of a 25,000,000 population, the speaker said.

Turkey's foreign policy is based primarily on its friendship with the United States, Adolfson explained. On the whole, the Turks take great pride in their relationship with the United States.

However, Turks are not too conscious of our wealth and assume every American who visits there is rich, he stressed.

The citizens in Turkey also have a hard time understanding our democracy. There are no color lines in Turkey and the Little Rock school integration furor disturbed the Turkish people, Dr. Adolfson said.

Grease-Soaked Rushes Used For Lighting in Early Days

BY RAMON COFFMAN

Candles of several kinds were used during ancient times. Many of them were crude, being hardly more than rushes soaked with grease.

Other ancient candles were made from beeswax, and were fitted with wicks. Old records indicate that candles were sold by Phoenician merchants. The merchants used sailing vessels to travel from one part of the Mediterranean Sea to another.

Tallow was used long ago for candles. It is an animal fat, obtained chiefly from cattle and sheep.

Alfred the Great is given credit for devising a "clock candle." He learned that a long wax candle would burn for four hours. This led him to mark each candle of that size with rings. After a candle had burned for a while, he was able to tell how much time had passed.

Tallow candies, being less costly than wax, became more popular. Candle-makers would dip a thread, or cord, in hot tallow, and then would let it dry. Over and over again, the action was repeated, until a fair-sized candle was produced.

That slow method was followed by a molding method. Hot tallow or wax was poured into molds, and was allowed to harden. Sometimes the thread

Three Long-Play Records Given to Menasha Library

Menasha — "Yuletide Hymns and Carols," recorded by the Royal Choral society, is one of three new long-play phonograph records donated to the Elisha D. Smith Public library by the music section of the Economics club. Marvin Melick announced today.

Other new 33 rpm records are Vaughan Williams' "Fantasia on Greensleeves" and Manuel De Falla's "Nights in the Gardens of Spain and El Amour Brujo."

Four 78 rpm albums were donated, also. They are Peter Tschalkovsky's "Quartet in D Major" by the Roth String quartet; "Black, Brown and Beige," a saga of the Negro in America composed and played by Duke Ellington; Anton Dvorak's "Concerto in B Minor for Cello and Orchestra," played by the Philadelphia orchestra; and Ludwig von Beethoven's "Symphony No. 6 in F Major" with Bruno Walter conducting the Philadelphia orchestra.

them to hold it in the right position until the wax or tallow became hard.

Alderman Asks Shattuck Park Use in Winter

Suggests 2-Hour
Limit by Motorists
To Aid Shoppers

Neenah — Use of Shattuck park for parking during winter months was proposed to the Neenah council by Ald. James Dinius Wednesday night. His request was referred to the public protection committee.

Dinius mentioned a resident in his ward had asked about the possibility of such parking for limited periods, such as two hours, rather than for all-day parking.

This would be for the winter months when the park, a boat docking area, is not in use.

Referred to the health and welfare committee, was a suggestion that negotiations be started with the county to transfer the fresh air camp to the county for operation as a recreation site. The suggestion came from the plans commission and was relayed by Ald. Harold Young.

Access to Lake
The fresh air camp has not been used for more than 15 years and is located near Rainbow beach on Lake Winnebago. It would provide boaters with access to the lake.

Aldermen referred to the cemetery commissioners for recommendation action on an agreement with Bernard Gley of Menasha who would provide $1,200 to purchase of red geranium plants to be placed on 35 graves for each Memorial day after Gley's death. City Clerk R. V. Hauser explained this had been a common practice in the past. The money is deposited in a bank and the interest is used for the floral purchases.

Police Force's Inside Story Told by Author

lice force in action. Dramatic cases that could not be presented on "Dragnet" are highlighted.

Those interested in aviation and war stories will enjoy Robert Johnson and Martin Cadin's "Thunderbolt," an extraordinary story of a World war II ace.

Other new non-fiction includes William Baldwin's "Mau Mau Man-Hunt," adventures of the only American to fight the terrorists in Kenya; Bob Smith's "The Boys Entertainment Book," a wealth of program material for carrying on entertainment activities; Irving Adler's "The New Mathematics;" and Harry Wedeck's "Dictionary of Magic."

Piction additions include Mildred Savage's "Parrish," the dramatic world of tobacco plantations in the Connecticut valley, and Franklin Langdon's "S. S. Silver-spray," a turbulent story of merchant marine shipboard life during a typhoon.

Western addicts will want "Buckskin Affair;" Dale London's "The Bad Country;" Bradford Scott's "The Slick-Iron Trail" and W. F. Bragg's "Outlaw Moon."

Neenah Building During November Totals $163,000

Neenah — Building permits totaling $163,150 in construction were issued in November, according to Building Inspector Carlton F. Williams. This brought the total construction authorized this year to $2,547,634.

Last month's permits included nine homes valued at $123,000, nine garages at $9,950, five residential remodeling projects worth $3,250, six non-residential remodeling jobs costing $11,950, one $15,000 filling station, a fence permit and two wrecking permits.

Other permits issued were 38 electrical, 32 heating, 10 plumbing and 11 sewer for work totaling $42,033.

Since Jan. 1 new home permits issued came to 170 dwellings worth $2,071,800. Fifteen of these homes are in the first ward, 31 in the Second ward, one in the Fourth ward, 33 in the Sixth ward, 10 in the Seventh ward, 78 in the Ninth ward and two in the Tenth ward.

At this time last year there were 124 new homes authorized while the records for previous years were 184 in 1956, 183 in 1955 and 150 in 1954.

Menasha — Donors are urged to keep appointments when the Red Cross Bloodmobile visits the Twin Cities Monday and Tuesday, William Platt, blood program chairman for the Menasha Red Cross chapter, sponsor of the visit, implored today.

Platt emphasized colds and flu may result in a number of rejections. The Bloodmobile will be set up at the First Congregational church. Local nurses who will assist professional workers from Madison in conducting the blood bank were named today by Mrs. William Platt. They are Mrs. Erwin Reh-bein, Mrs. R. A. Juneau, Miss Mary Orblson, Mrs. Ed Whittall, Mrs. Francis Schultz, Mrs. Gordon Peterson, Mrs. John Ducklow, Mrs. C. G. Johnson, Mrs. Lawrence Loehning, Mrs. John Conway and Mrs. Richard Rodebush. Staff aides selected are Mrs. S. Platt, Mrs. Charles Ploudre, Mrs. Alan MacGreg-or, Mrs. Carl Nobel, Mrs. Norman Coan, Mrs. John Klein, Mrs. Carl Snyder, Mrs. G. O. Burster, Mrs. Bernard Pawlowski, Mrs. Lawrence Roemer, Mrs. R. A. Becker, and Mrs. John Temple and Mrs. Sidney Wright.

Blood donating hours on Monday are from noon to 5:30 p.m. and on Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. The quota is 240 pints.

Sanderfoot transferred into the pack.

Season for America's Native Fruit Arrives

Cranberry craving has been a cherished American tradition from the days of clipper ships to the now of jet planes. This bright little bog - born bonanza of flavor and nutrition is very much our native own, with great quantities grown today in Wisconsin.

Of course the clipper - ship sailors, who kept casks of raw cranberries on deck for ready eating while long at sea, knew nothing of the content of vitamins A and C and other vitamins and minerals of which modern nutritionists are aware. But they did know that eating plenty of cranberries kept them healthy and scurvy-free.

Ever since the colonial days cranberries have been cultivated on the culinary side, too, as clever homemakers concoct more and more dishes from them.

For instance, a brand new expression of cranberries' affinity for turkey is Piquant Fresh Cranberry Stuffing in which the tangy berry highlights a mixture of celery, parsley, seasoning and bread crumbs.

The congeniality of cranberries and apples is played up in a de luxe Fresh Cranberry Apple Cobbler, and in simple but flavorful Cranberry Applesauce.

Cranberry juice cocktail, spicy with cloves and cinnamon and tanged with citrus juice is a new, highly nutritious, highly refreshing appetizer.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable association adds these new stand - out attractions to the growing list of cranberry creations.

Cranberry-Apple Cobbler
2 cups (1/2 pound) fresh raw cranberries
5 cups (5 medium) sliced apples

A Very Deluxe Cobbler is this one that combines luscious fresh cranberries with fresh apples. The flavors of the two fruits go extremely well together.

1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 tablespoons quick-cook ing tapioca
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
2 tablespoons butter
Pastry, using 1 cup flour
Wash cranberries and mix with apples, sugar, salt, tapioca and vanilla extract. Turn into baking dish. Dot with butter.

Cover with pastry rolled to 1/4-inch thickness or if desired cut pastry into 1/4-inch strips and place over the top in criss-cross fashion. Trim, turn under and flute edge. Cut two or three slashes in top of pastry if solid crust is used. Bake in a preheated hot 425-degree oven 15 minutes. Reduce heat to moderate 350-degrees and continue baking until crust is brown and apples are tender, about 30 minutes. Serve warm or cold.

Cranberry Applesauce
3 cups fresh raw cranberries
3 cups diced fresh cooking apples
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
Combine cranberries, apples, water and salt. Cover and cook slowly until fruit is tender, about 15 minutes. Stir in sugar. Serve with meat or poultry, for breakfast or dessert.

Cranberry Juice
2 cups fresh cranberries
2 cups water
3 whole cloves
1 stick whole cinnamon
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup fresh orange juice
1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
1/16 teaspoon salt
Combine cranberries, water, cloves and cinnamon in a saucepan. Cover and cook only until skins burst, eight to 10 minutes. Strain. Add sugar, cook slowly two to three minutes to dissolve sugar. Cool. Stir in fruit juices and salt.

This Young Miss is ready to serve Polly-Pops to her guests. Easily made, this crunchy confection is a good idea for any special occasion. To make: Combine one cup sugar, one-half cup light corn syrup and one cup top milk in saucepan. Cook over low heat to soft ball stage (240 degrees). Mix four cups presweetened puffed corn cereal and one cup salted peanuts in large, buttered bowl. Pour on syrup, mixing thoroughly. Press mixture into buttered muffin pans. When cool, remove from pans and insert wooden skewer sidewise to resemble a lollipop.

Kedgerree Fish And Rice Dish From Far East

This dish with the strange name of Kedgerree comes to us from the Far East, via the English, who love to serve this fish-and-rice dish for a hearty Sunday breakfast or for high tea.

Chill. Serve cold as an appetizer.

Cranberry Stuffing
2 cups coarsely chopped fresh cranberries
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped fresh parsley
1/2 cup butter, melted
2 quarts (8 cups) toasted bread cubes (croutons)
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger
Combine cranberries and sugar and let stand 30 minutes.

Saute celery and parsley in butter. Add toasted bread cubes, salt, black pepper, poultry seasoning and ginger. Mix well. Add cranberries and toss lightly.

Spoon into the body and neck cavities of a 10 to 12-pound turkey or goose. Close openings with skewers and lace with strong string. For roasting chicken or duck, use one-half the recipe.

The "Encyclopedia of Cookery" says that it is also spelled "kidgeeree" or "kedgerry" and, the original recipe consisted of fish sauteed in butter over a very low fire and served on a base of highly spiced boiled rice. Fish was covered with a rich cream sauce seasoned with curry powder.

Since the high seasonings might not be to many Americans' taste, here is an adapted version of it.

Kedgerree
1 cup uncooked rice
2 packages frozen fish fillets (4 cups flaked fish)
1 teaspoon onion flakes
1 teaspoon pickling spices
2 hard boiled eggs, (1 chopped, 1 sliced)
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
4 teaspoons curry powder
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Put rice in two cups of cold water, with one teaspoon salt. Bring to a vigorous boil and turn heat as low as possible. Cover with a lid and cook over low heat for 14 minutes.

While rice is cooking, place fish, pickling spices, and onion flakes in a saucepan; cover with water. Fish need not be thawed. If frozen blocks are too large to fit into pan, cut into pieces. Bring water to boil, turn heat down so that water just simmers. Cover and let cook until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Flake fish, removing any bones. Mix with rice and remainder of ingredients. Turn into 2-quart buttered casserole. Dot with butter. Cover and bake at 400 degrees 10 minutes. Garnish with hard-boiled egg slices and parsley. Serve at once.

Sardine Spread
Good Appetizer
For Party Meals

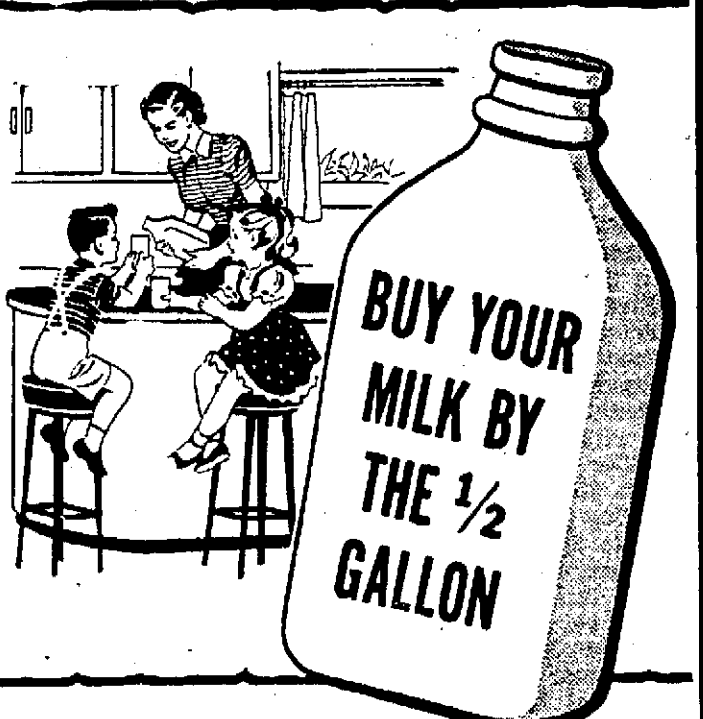

Holiday dinners call for many special treats, right from the start of the meal. Sardine Spread on crackers with a tomato juice cocktail are just the right partners to start your dinner off with zest and good cheer.

Sardine Spread
1 can (15 oz.) sardines in tomato sauce
3 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 small onion, chopped finely
1 cup sour cream
Put sardines with their tomato sauce, lemon juice, salt and onion into bowl. Blend until thoroughly mixed. Then gently mix in sour cream. Chill before serving. Then spread on round or triangular crackers.

Tomato Juice Cocktail
To each glass of tomato juice, add a teaspoonful of lemon juice. Surround the glass of juice with a ring of crackers topped with Sardine Spread.

Al La Count Clips
608 Set to Share
Commercial Honors

Menasha — Jerry Johnson clouted a 269 game and Al LaCount powered a 608 series to divide honors in the Up-town Commercial Bowling league Wednesday night at Mid-Town alleys.

Johnson finished with a 589 triple. He yielded runnerup series honors to Bill Gear, who fashioned a 234 game in his 584 total.

Other honor totals included Basil Everson 583, Stu McCutcheon 567, Bob Kuehl 557 and Ray Jakubek 226.

W-W Bar is in first place with a 25-14 record. It has a 2-game advantage over Club Terrace.

Cy Anderson clipped a 582 trio in the Businessmen's circuit Wednesday night at Mid-Town. There were no honor games of 225 but Joe Nemecek just missed that total by one pin.

Graders Defeat Kimberly Five in Twin City Wheel

Neenah — St. Margaret Mary, after a cold first quarter, came back to defeat Kimberly Junior High school 43-37 in the Twin City Grade school league opener for both squads Wednesday afternoon at the Roosevelt gym.

The Neenah cagers trailed 17-4 at the end of the first quarter but led 22-17 at half-time and 28-26 at the close of three periods.

Dick Wiesner and Tim Brown led the winners with 15 and 13 points respectively. Dave Neubauer collected 19 for Kimberly. Both teams had 16 field goals but St. Margaret Mary won with an 11-5 free throw advantage.

The St. Margaret Mary "B" game posted a 26-18 win in the preliminary. The Clippers make their next start at Little Chute St. John tonight in a Catholic Boy league game. They bested Kimberly Holy Name in their first league start.

Center Wing of the $1.6 Million, 320-bed Outagamie hospital is rising steadily between two already completed wings. The center wing replaces a 60-year-old dormitory section once labeled a fire trap. During construction, the institution's 225 patients are eating cafeteria style in a small dining room, since the construction also eliminated part of the previous large dining hall. In the photo above, the new west wing is on the right, connecting with the skeleton of the new center wing. The edge of the completed east wing can be seen at left. The stone facing is starting to form at the bottom of the building. The crane visible at the top of the photo lifts concrete to be poured for the building's skeleton.

Forgotten Soldiers on Offshore Islands Live Beside Their Guns

20,000 Men on Matsus Ignored As World Watches Quemoy Crisis

BY ROBERT TUCKMAN

Matsu — (P) — They live beside their guns, these nearly forgotten men of the offshore war.

They are the 20,000 nationalist soldiers on the Matsu islands, all but ignored while world attention focuses on the communist shelling of the Quemoy, 150 miles to the south.

But they maintain a 24-hour standby alert, sleeping underground on beds of board a few feet from their artillery pieces and machine guns.

They live in an intricate system of tunnels, pillboxes and bunkers. Fortress Matsu is a 4-square-mile beehive of subterranean fortifications carved largely by hand and chisel out of rock. The four other nationalist outpost islands of the Matsu group are the same.

Face Mainland

They are strung from three to 10 miles from the communist mainland. By nationalist estimate, 300 red gun emplacements face them.

Visitors invariably consider Matsu's maze of tunnels incredible.

Approaching the main island from the sea, you see only a treeless, mountain island of scrub growth and barren ground. Closer in, you can observe the network of 50 miles of dirt roads and clusters of corrugated tin houses of the fishing villages.

Also in close, you can see irregular lines of trenches and row after row of barbed wire barricades against landings. The handful of Americans making up an advisory team here could scarcely stake out enough room for a volleyball court.

Heart of the Matsu complex is an underground cluster of concrete bunkers making up the nationalist operations headquarters. Air, sea and naval reports funnel in to the operations center, which directs the men at the gun emplacements and reports to nationalist headquarters on Formosa.

For most nationalist soldiers, home is underground. It is a small room with two or three board beds or a 1-bed cubicle hewn from stone a few feet from the soldier's gun pillbox. Nearby is another room used as an ammunition storage pit.

Soldiers spend much of their day either underground at a battle station or outside, digging more fortifications and carving more roads.

Lt. Gen. Ho Chun, the jovial, heavy-set nationalist commander on Matsu, lives in an underground bunker of five rooms. He has no doubt that his men can repulse any invasion attempt by the communists.

"They will be annihilated," he says of the Reds.

Ho has high praise for the work of the small team on the Matsus from the U.S. military assistance advisory group.

Expect Decision In Two Weeks on Hilda Foster Case

A decision is expected in about two weeks from the state industrial commission, workmen's compensation division, on the appeal of Mrs. Hilda Foster.

Mrs. Foster, a cook at the city home who also lived there, fell and broke a hip last year while in her room.

The city workmen's compensation carrier, Hardware Mutuals, admits the woman received disabling injuries and lost about three months of work while in the hospital, but maintains the woman was not on duty.

Mrs. Foster, through her attorney, maintains she was on duty.

Appearing before the division's examiner Tuesday at city hall were Mrs. Lloyd Christianson, city home keeper and matron, and F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director, and Mrs. Foster.

If Hardware Mutuals is not found responsible for coverage, the city will have to pay; since Mrs. Foster is now a resident of the city home.

Business Gifts Will be Fewer, Survey Reports

Many Firms Request Elimination of Presents to Employees

New York—Business Christmas gifts this year will be fewer and smaller, according to a nationwide survey of those who get them and those who give them; but those who sell them, report business is on the upgrade.

Purchasing Week magazine in its study, found two reasons were given for the slowdown in Christmas spending: to cut costs and to cooperate with customers' management who are pleading, "just give us price and delivery and forget your presents."

The recession was frequently given as a reason for curtailing or eliminating entirely another gift-giving splurge this year by a number of firms. But cropping up most often as the reason was an ever-increasing flow of letters from firms requesting elimination of gifts to their employees, the survey found.

A leading advertising services firm sees small business companies (those with less than $1 million annual volume) using Christmas gifts as good-will builders to a greater extent than ever before this year.

The company contends the over-all amount of Christmas industrial gifts will increase this year. They see emphasis on items for the home rather than for the desk or office. The advertisers estimate the amount spent per gift by small business firms averages about $3.65 each.

A west coast gift firm specializing in industrial accoutrements, also sees 1958 as a good year—well ahead of 1957.

But a spokesman said many companies were still making up their minds what and how much to buy. The company, which anticipates heavy last-minute orders, also sees a significant fact that there has been a lot of recent interest in low-volume, high-cost items—the kind of specialty present "you give to a few of your best customers."

AHS Students Hear About Foreign Life

A special assembly for Appleton High school sophomores and juniors was held Wednesday afternoon to initiate the foreign student exchange program for the year. Participants were those who have participated in the program. Marty Semmelhack, chairman of the foreign student exchange committee, presided.

Two of the speakers were the students from other countries attending AHS as seniors this year. Kamal Cavina from Karachi, Pakistan, told of life in her country. Robert Vanonini, Bergamo, Italy, spoke to the students about life in Italy and related some of his experiences.

The two AHS seniors who lived abroad for two months last summer also spoke. They were John Bubolz who spent the summer with a family in Izmir, Turkey, and Mary Metz who was in Zurich, Switzerland.

William Ertl Takes Nomination Papers

Stop Anti-Labor Talk, Wiley Says

GOP Must Change Selling Ideas For '60 Race, Senator Advises

BY JACK GLASNER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Republicans must change the popular concept of their party if they want to win any elections, Sen. Alexander Wiley said at an informal luncheon at Lawrence college Wednesday.

This is no change in Republican philosophy or principles, only a difference in selling concepts, Wiley declared.

Wiley charged Republicans became an anti-labor party in the voters' minds, and the Democratic party capitalized on this.

ence for Wiley's opponent, the senator pointed out.

Wiley said it was "far too early" to comment on whether he would run for reelection in 1962, the same comment he made on possible GOP presidential candidates for the 1960 race.

He added that both parties had plenty of talented, sane-thinking men.

Change With World
Reminded that he in the early 1940s said things construed as isolationist statements, Wiley angrily said he was no isolationist and he had changed with the world. In 1941, the entire U. S. was asleep when Pearl Harbor was attacked, but the Pacific ocean still gave America two years to catch up. "Today we have 15 minutes," Wiley commented.

Wiley said the one thing we must do is to realize the family nature of humanity—"we must talk to and deal with the yellow race, the black race, everyone."

Asked if this meant we should recognize the communist government of red China in order to deal with them, Wiley answered that foreign policy was conducted by the executive branch of the government and he thought Pres. Eisenhower and Sec. of State Dulles were doing a good job.

"In my opinion," Wiley explained, "the time is not right to recognize red China — either in the United Nations or by the U.S.

"Our foreign policy has been governed by the consideration of all possible areas, not one in particular. And our foreign policy has been successful — we have not had an H-bomb dropped, and we haven't seen the beginnings of World war III," Wiley commented.

Asked if he knew how to get the initiative from the Russians, such as their setting "brush fire wars" around the world, Wiley said he didn't know. "I'm not smart enough, and if anyone can tell me, I'd be glad to listen," he added.

About his relations with freshman Sen. William Proxmire, Wiley commented that he got along fine with the new senator and expected to continue so. "Party doesn't matter in the senate. What matters today is if you are an American.

"Except for some few cases, personalities don't matter, either. If you allow hate to enter an issue, to enter into you, it's simply a matter of killing yourself, and men have done that," Wiley said.

Wiley said that he attended a 40-nation conference recently in Portugal, during which the most important thing he learned was the need for communication between mankind, the essential family nature of humanity. He added that results in patent agreement between nations did come out of the conference, explaining that Russia did not attend the conference, although several satellite nations did.

"I have reached the point where I have to live with myself, say what I mean — I always have and perhaps that is all I can say," he said.

gravy boat take branches and berries delightfully. Don't strain for an effect — keep it simple. Plenty of deep shadowy green is wonderful with the furniture wood, and sprigs need only to be tucked into containers the right size for them, or to nestle with cones on the shelf surfaces. Finish off the decoration center with the punch bowl and it will be hospitable as well as a striking center of interest for the room.

Christmas at City Home

Thursday, Dec. 4, 1958 Appleton Post-Crescent C3

Brownie Scouts of Troop 292 of McKinley school spread some Christmas cheer Wednesday when they presented the residents of the city home with a handmade table Christmas tree of chicken wire and green crepe paper. They also made the decorations from jar rims and Christmas cards. Mrs. Emma Pantzlaff watches Sherry Burmeister and Nona Volpe, left to right, trim the tree.

Bake Sale, Bazaar a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday.
The committee in charge includes Mrs. Lloyd Schultz, Mrs. Donovan Ritchie, Mrs. Irl Poehlman and Mrs. Gene Eder.
Royalton — The I.H.S. Society will stage a bake sale and bazaar at the Royalton Congregational church at 11 Eder.

Brownies Present Yule Tree

Brownie Troop 292 of McKinley school distributed magazines to the patients at the city home and presented residents with a Christmas tree made and decorated by the Brownies. The youngsters also gave a Christmas program Wednesday afternoon.

The scout group sang the "Hello" and "Smile" songs and a Christmas greeting was given by Karen Gjerard.

A song and dance game demonstration was presented by Sherry Johannes, Carol Vice, Rita Hafemann, Susan Gasper, Diana Schuster and Donna Clement.

Sherry Burmeister gave a Christmas story and a jingle bell tap dance was performed by Linda Klitzke, Janet Schneider, Judy Vaubel and Nona Jean Volpe.

Mary Kay Recter read a Christmas poem and a trio, Carla Fenske, Debbie Lindauer and Patty VanLeur sang "Away in a Manger" after which the group sang "Merry Christmas to You."

Mrs. Paul Volpe is the Brownie troop leader and Mrs. Gilbert Schuster is the assistant leader. They were aided by Mrs. Justin Schneider and Mrs. Robert Hafemann.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

Not many years ago, a metric science steps in with home-made lemon rinse was shampoo formulas that contain the ultimate in help for the hair. Its makings involved squeezing strained lemon juice into distilled water. And nothing can be said against the procedure even today, except that it is tedious. A lemon rinse brightens and high-lights the hair in a highly efficient manner.

Shampoos are not the only instance of "old wine in new bottles." The old but proven cure for work-stained hands, glycerine and rose water, now comes with the additive of protective silicones. benefit as much as young vocabularies.

Dr. Seuss' latest addition to a family of illustrated children's books is "The Cat in the Hat." It joins such earlier eyebrow-lifting titles as "Yertle the Turtle," "The Sneetches," "The Lorax," "The Grinch Who Stole Christmas," and "How the Grinch Stole Christmas."

Favorite Story
A word and picture tale of a mischievous feline, "The Cat in the Hat" has been hailed by educators, librarians and parents as a significant achievement in the field of books for beginning readers.

The tale is told with only 223 words, most of them as simple as "cat" and "hat." But it's fun to read and has sold 300,000 copies already.

The kids have installed Dr. Seuss (it rhymes with goose) as a literary giant. For adults, he displays a constant wit. For instance, a woman in the book department of a Chicago department store where Dr. Seuss was making a personal appearance got involved in this conversation:

Few Words
Woman: "Are you Dr. Seuss?"

Seuss: "Yes, I'm Dr. Seuss."

Woman: "Why, I'm from your home town."

Seuss: "Where? Springfield, Mass.?"

Woman: "No, La Jolla, Calif. What are you doing here?"

Seuss: "Sitting here in a chair and looking silly. What are you doing here?"

Woman: "I'm visiting."

Seuss: "Well, when you go home, don't tell anyone you saw me."

Dr. Seuss was as talkative with book reporters.

He revealed he started writing children's books with sketches when he read the fine print in his advertising agency contract and discovered that it did not cover that area.

As close as he can come academically to supporting the "Dr." in his pseudonym is a honorary Doctor of Humane Letters he received from his college alma mater, Dartmouth. He also attended Lincoln college, Oxford, England.

He refers to himself as a doodler, first, last and always.

"That's how I met my wife, Helen. We were studying King Lear at Oxford and I was read about 40 feet of the let-punctuating with doodles, and later," he said.

High School Commercial Instructor Don Christenson visits Mrs. Christenson and their triplets in Bellingham, Wash. The two boys, six pounds and four pounds, are still "A" and "B" but the girl, center, four pounds, is Diane Elizabeth. At home are three older sons.

she wanted to know what they meant," he said.

He uses the doodle technique to get ideas for his children's books.

Take "Horton Hatches an Egg," for example.

"I had this picture drawn of a tree. Then I had an elephant in the tree. Then I asked myself: What the hell is an elephant doing in a tree? Well he's in the tree to hatch an egg. And so it went," he said.

It was the same with "Cat in the Hat."

"I had cat and the only thing I could think of to rhyme with cat is hat."

After Dr. Seuss has a book developed, he hangs on to it for a year or so before he turns it over to his publisher, Random House.

His readers send him scores of fan letters.

"I suspect they are prompted by the teacher when she steps out for a smoke. She says: 'While I'm gone why don't you write a letter to Dr. Seuss?' One letter I got from Niagara Falls was 45 feet long. It took the kids two years to write it. They rewrote all the stories in the series."

"Did they improve on them?"

"I don't know. I only got to Lear at Oxford and I was read about 40 feet of the let-punctuating with doodles, and later," he said.

Nelson Questions Need For All State Airports

No Record of Flights Kept; Commission
May Have to Justify Local Port Projects

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison—Tireless promoter of more and better airports in Wisconsin communities, the state aeronautics department may be required to justify local airport projects in greater detail by the new Democratic state administration.

The department director and members of the aeronautics commission were sharply questioned at a budget hearing by Gov.-elect Gaylord Nelson about the use of some of the airports built recently in the smaller towns in the state.

There are 71 publicly owned airports. The department wants to build more. Public money spent on them during the last decade alone has amounted to more than $22 million.

No Use Record
Jordan said the state and the municipalities operating them do not now keep records on the number or the kinds of airplanes using the local airports.

Nelson asked why such figures are not available. Jordan said he would ask the next legislature to require such reports from the localities.

Nelson said the state, as a substantial investor in the cost of the local air facilities, should be able to show that such expenditures are justified.

"Maybe we're just guessing and built some of them foolishly," he said.

Involved in the line of questioning is the fate of the state airport aid program, which Jordan set at a proposed figure of $1,720,000 for the next two years. The state aids and the federal aids available have encouraged dozens of smaller communities during the last 10 years to engage in airport building projects, as they have, also helped in the financing of the major local landing fields and terminal buildings in the larger cities.

More Airline Service
Jordan reported enthusiastically about the prospects for expanded commercial aviation traffic in the state. The number of enplaned travelers today is larger than had been projected by his studies, he said, and will continue to grow until it reaches about 700,000 a year by 1956.

He said Milwaukee will soon become one of the major air terminals of the country, and noted that at least three additional Wisconsin communities have already been franchised for scheduled air service.

The private landing fields that were once numerous in the state are fading out, he went on. There are now only about 44 of them, although once there were 170. Private capital cannot provide the facilities now needed for air traffic, he said, "as private capital cannot provide highways for motor vehicle traffic," he declared.

The battle of the waxed floor in county court is over. It lasted nearly two weeks and exhausted the energies of about a dozen people.

It all started when County Judge Stanley A. Staidl rearranged records storage in his court. Revealed by moving filing cabinets was an unwaxed floor. Supt. of Public Buildings Joseph Krause ordered the floor waxed. Result—everyone slipped and slid.

Then the battle got hot when sand was put on the floor to make it walkable. Krause got angry, so did Judge Staidl and his register in probate, Miss Joyce Schumaker. Finally, after a visit by four supervisors representing two county board committees, Krause was told to take the wax off. He did. Attorneys can once more walk among the files without fear of falling flat. And the sand is gone, although traces of it linger throughout the courthouse tracked there by county court visitors.

$223 Million to be Spent on Expansion, Power Firm Asserts

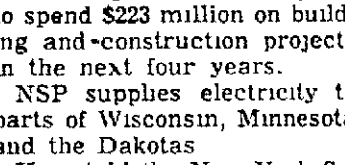

New York — Allen S. King, president of Northern States Power company, said Wednesday his firm expects to spend $223 million on building and construction projects in the next four years.

NSP supplies electricity to parts of Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

King told the New York Society of Security Analysts the utility plans to add at least a million and a half kilowatts of new generating capacity in the next 12 years.

Expect Opposition to Proposed Locks Rate

Petition Circulated Through Village Against Tax Hike

Combined Locks — Opposition to the proposed 1959 budget which calls for a $10 per $1,000 of assessed valuation increase in property taxes is expected by the village board at a public hearing at 7 p.m. tonight at the village hall. A petition was circulated Wednesday afternoon and one worker reported that almost everyone was signing. It opposed the increase which is the highest in village history. The tax rate was $33 this year and is proposed at $43 for 1959. The board says the increase is needed to meet higher expenses and also make up a $6,000 deficit which the board expects to end with this year. Total budget for the village for 1959 is $226,328, an increase of about $9,000 over this year's figure of $217,280. The $6,000 deficit is a result of budgeted expenses for road, sanitary sewer, storm sewer and water installations this year, the board said. This year income from other sources than property taxes was $91,083 making the tax levy $26.197. In 1959 the revenues are expected to drop to $88,115, making the tax levy $38.213. This is an increase of $12,016 over this year's amount. Adding the $6,000 deficit to the increase in the tax levy means that the village will have to raise $18,016 more through property taxes next year than was done this year.

258-676 Pace Major League

Aloys Peters Cracks Top Honor Counts in Men's Scratch Loop

Kaukauna — Aloys "Pete" Peters cracked a 258 single-ton and a 678 series to take individual honors in the Men's Major Bowling league at S and B alleys. Team honors were shared by Schouten Oil with a 1,053 game and S and B with a 2,933 series. Trude Jewelers won three games to take the league lead with a 29-10 record while Gertz' tavern took second with a 25-14 mark. Other high scores were posted by Joe Steger, 571; Jim Belling, 617; Leo King, 559; Earl Verbeten, 574; Al Schumann, 563; Erv Borree, 556; Mark Hoegh, 569; Don Wenzel, 256, 635; Howard Paschen, 551; Ray Morgan, 588; Norm Lenz, 565; Jerry Lamers, 244, 624; Gene Schmeisser, 589, and Boh Ribarchek, 236, 662.

Southside League — C. Van Den Broek hit a 584 series for the only honor count in the Monday Night Southside Business league at Verbeten's alleys. Sherm's won three games to hold the league lead with 17 wins and seven losses while the Eagles and Klein's are tied for runnerup with 12-11 marks.

Golden Agers to Complete Plans For Yule Party

Kaukauna — Final plans for the Christmas dinner party to be held Dec. 17 at the Elks clubrooms will be discussed at a meeting of the Golden Agers at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the clubrooms of the municipal building. Club members must make dinner reservations by Monday's meeting but outsiders wishing to purchase tickets may do so until Dec. 14. The tickets will be available from Fred Densch, Ted Weber or James Gertz, recreation director. Cards will be played and lunch served after the business session. Hostesses will be Mrs. Mattie Kobussen and Mrs. William Latulip.

Hospital Auxiliary Plans For Christmas Decorating

Kaukauna — Plans for Christmas decorating for the hospital were discussed at the quarterly meeting of the hospital auxiliary. Mrs. Berenice Elliott, hospital administrator, reported she would like a large Christmas tree on the roof of the hospital as well as the usual smaller one in the lobby. The auxiliary will attempt to find a suitable tree for the roof and accepted the task as an annual project. Auxiliary members also agreed to help locate nursery rhyme figures which will be used to decorate the hospital tonsil room. The figures will be removable. A change in by-laws was recommended and will be studied prior to voting in April. The change would have quarterly meetings land on the third Tuesday of September, November, March and June rather than on the second Tuesday of April, July, October and December. The time of the meeting also will be changed from 7 to 8 p.m. Reports Given A report on draperies and picture taking project of new babies was given by Mrs. George Behnke. Mrs. Elliott reported on the recent accreditation of the hospital and the newly installed doctor's call board, which the auxiliary helped purchase. After the meeting women toured the hospital to view equipment recently purchased and installed and then gathered in the cafeteria for coffee and cookies at a social hour.

Kimberly to Face Menasha Friday Night

Kimberly — The Papermaker cagers will try for their fourth straight victory of the season and their second in Mid-Eastern conference play at Menasha Friday night. Coach Gil Frank's hardwood thumpers are fresh from their opening conference win over Kaukauna but expect some stiffer competition from the Bluejays. Kimberly will rely on shooting ability to halt the 'Jays as they have hit better than 50 per cent in one game and roy Balza and Mrs. Orzy topped the 40 per cent mark in another this year. Against Kaukauna the Papermakers had a cold first quarter and finished with a 35 per cent average for the game, their low for the season. Menasha lost its first league fray to Two Rivers by a 70 to 63 score and will be out to break into the victory column. Probable starters for Kimberly will include Don Hearden and Dave Minten as guards, Tom Rooyackers at center and Darrell Jansen and Jack Lamers at forwards. a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elis Jewell. Ver Voort visited with his fiancée Miss Mary Francis Jewell. He met his fiancée when stationed with the Army at Fort Knox. Miss Jewell will visit here over the Christmas holidays.

Four Queens of Month Crowned By TOPS Club

Kaukauna — Four queens were crowned for November by the Electric City TOPS club as each lost a total of five and one-half pounds during the month. The 10-member club lost a total of 44 pounds during the month. Queens crowned include Mrs. Malcolm Jacobson, Mrs. Merritt Black, Mrs. Leeper cent in one game and roy Balza and Mrs. Orzy topped the 40 per cent mark in another this year. Against Kaukauna the Papermakers had a cold first quarter and finished with a 35 per cent average for the game, their low for the season. Menasha lost its first league fray to Two Rivers by a 70 to 63 score and will be out to break into the victory column. Ghost Cagers To Play First Home M-E Tilt

KHS Squad Seeking Win After Losing Four Straight Games

Kaukauna — Still seeking its first win after four starts, the Kaukauna High school cage squad will open its home Mid-East conference season at 8 p.m. Friday against the strong Two Rivers quintet.

The Ghosts dropped three straight non-league tilts and last week lost a 65 to 46 decision to Kimberly in the conference opener. The Raiders on the other hand have been rolling through non-conference opponents with a minimum of difficulty and last week downed Menasha 70 to 63 in an overtime tilt.

Two Rivers has four letter winners back, the two top returnees being Dick Knope and Dale Kozlowski. Other letter winners are Stu Walesh and Tom Malkowski. Gone is their leading scorer and playmaker, Ron Brault. The Jayvees finished with a 10-4 mark last year and has moved several outstanding players up to the varsity.

Other Raiders to see action will be Lee Raddatz, Don Korprowski, Tom Lawrence and Ron Bocher. As in all previous contests, the Ghosts will again be giving away height to their opponents.

Kaukauna Starters

Coach Gerry Hopfensperger has been drilling his boys hard the past week both in shooting and rebounding. These two facets have been major factors in the Ghosts' record to date, especially shooting averages which are well below other schools.

Likely starters for Kaukauna will be Lee Weyenberg, Myron Zachowski, Jim Steger, Bill Borchardt and Ron Busse. Others who will see action will be Harry Gast, Cy Vander Horst, Gary Vanevenhoven, Mike Landreman and Dan Lamers.

The Junior Varsity teams from the two schools will meet in a preliminary game at 6:45 with the Junior Ghosts also seeking their first win of the campaign.

Dedicate Portable Atomic Reactor

Idaho Falls, Idaho — A new type portable atomic reactor was dedicated Tuesday at the national reactor testing station. Officials promptly put it to practical use, substituting atomic power for the commercial electricity that had lighted the building housing the new reactor.

Known as the Argonne Low Power Reactor (ALPR), the new atomic plant is the first working model of a prototype designed for easy shipment by air to remote areas. Its dedication marked the 16th anniversary of the world's first controlled nuclear chain reaction, which occurred Dec. 2, 1942, at the University of Chicago stadium.

Loyal Star Lodge Sets Christmas Party, Election of Officers

Kaukauna — Jolly 11 Lodge, Loyal Star of America, will hold its annual Christmas party at 5 p.m. Friday at the home of Mrs. William Bay, 207 W. Fourth street.

Gifts will be exchanged after the covered dish supper followed by election of officers.

4 Winners Named in Santa Poster Contest

Bear Creek — Nancy Knudsen and Julie Ott were winners in the Santa Claus poster contest sponsored by the Bear Creek Community club. Second prizes went to Kathleen McClone and Carol Kuhnke.

The posters advertise the community Christmas party for children set for 1:30 Dec. 21 at the village hall. The party is being sponsored by the Community club.

The 12 best posters will be displayed at various business places.

Vanden Boogaard Hits 600 Series

Kimberly — Matt Vanden Boogaard slammed a 225 game and even 600 series for the high honors in the Bird Couples league at Shy's a-jeys.

Tom Reider had a 567 series for the only other honor count in the league.

The Jays are in first place with a 13-5 record while tied for second, two games off the pace are the Orioles and Canaries. The Robins are next, only a half game out of second.

Thilmany to Induct 73 Into 25-Year Group

Over 600 Expected For Sunday Dinner At Holy Cross

Kaukauna—The largest single group of members ever to be inducted into the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company Quarter Century club will be received into the organization at a dinner at Holy Cross school Sunday, according to L. C. Smith, industrial relations director.

The 73 being accepted in 1958 brings to 334 the number of employees with 25 or more years of continuous service holding membership in the club. This amounts to more than 20 per cent of all Thilco employees. At the same time seven 30-year awards will be presented.

This is the forty-third meeting of the club which was organized in 1941. Invitations to the dinner have been extended all members of the club and their wives. An attendance of about 600 is anticipated. Members receiving watches emblematic of 30 years of service will be Roy Belling, Fred Butler, Peter Coenen, Julian Peter, Van Stiphout, George Vils, John P. M. Weyenberg and Arthur Wiedenhaupt.

25-Year Members

New members of the 25-year club include Woodrow Alger, Isadore Befort, John Befort, Byron Biselx, Jerome Biselx, Andrew Bodde, Cyril Bodde, Alvin Broehm, Gilbert Busse, Louis Chizek, Harvey

Methodist Couples to Hold Christmas Party

Kaukauna — The Methodist Couple's club will hold a Christmas party at 8 p.m. Saturday in Fellowship hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Rutter will have charge of entertainment and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Goolsbey will be in charge of food.

Sheldon Haase Scores 22 Points In CYO Victory

Kimberly — Paced by Sheldon Haase's 22 points the Holy Name CYO team defeated Sacred Heart of Appleton 60 to 46.

Haase bagged 11 field goals, high for both teams, as he led the winners. It was a close game until the fourth quarter when Haase got hot and put in five of his buckets.

Holy Name had a 15 to 10 lead at the end of the first quarter and each team scored 10 in the second period to make the halftime count 25 to 20.

Kimberly stretched the lead to nine points at the end of the third period by scoring 16 while limiting Sacred Heart to 12. In the final frame Holy Name counted 19 while the losers had 14.

Gary Kuborn was runnerup for the Kimberly team with 12 points and Joe Bolwerk had 10. For Sacred Heart John

Past Allied Errors Led to Berlin Crisis

Situation Would be Different if Churchill Had Been Supported

BY WILLIAM S. WHITE

Washington — A sturdy old man who has just passed his 84th birthday has every reason to say a loud now what he will never in fact say — "I told you so."

The ominous Russian pressure on the western position in Germany would not exist today had Sir Winston Churchill not been overborne 15 years ago at the wartime Tehran conference by Franklin D. Roosevelt and Josef Stalin.

This conference produced a Big Three decision, with Churchill's reluctant assent, that the one supreme allied operation of 1944 was to be a cross-channel invasion of Hitler Germany. For months the Prime Minister, whose long view of history was not matched on the western side, had wanted to conduct action in the Balkans as well.

He wished to make certain thereby that American-British military power would be standing there at war's end to prevent a Soviet absorption of southern and central Europe. Churchill's plan would have altered the postwar world immeasurably. As things were allowed to develop, Russian troops reached Berlin simultaneously with the Allies. The terribly exposed western salient in Berlin today—a salient lying a hundred miles back of the iron curtain—is one of the results.

Large Soviet Faction
Another is that all Europe from Berlin eastward and most of it southward through the Danube basin is in Soviet or satellite hands.

Reviews of what might have been are rarely useful. The only justification for this is that it might throw some light upon current allied problems. Too, it might in a small way point out that all wishful current thinking of a possibly "reasonable" Soviet attitude about Germany is a most perilous kind of thinking.

The days of 1943 are being relived now in other minds than Churchill's. Vainly he tried to convince Roosevelt that it was one thing to welcome Russian aid against Hitler and quite another thing to suppose that we could do business with the Kremlin after the war.

These were both great men. But Roosevelt persisted in a sunny confidence in the Soviet union which the wiser partner, Churchill, knew to be as unsound as it was attractive. And these were both gay men. But Roosevelt's gaiety was truly that; Churchill's gaiety overlaid a deep philosophic skepticism. And because of his martial gusto he had the habit in allied war councils of throwing off grandiose ideas, if only to stir laggard minds.

Because of this, because he was unashamedly a Tory and because he behaved in a grand manner that seemed to take little account of the cost, his advice, even when given in mortal seriousness, was sometimes discounted at the wrong time.

His personal acts tended further to foster the notion that Winston was as erratic as he was brilliant. Both the American and British high commands were in terror on and after D-day in Normandy that "the old man" would come over and insist on taking personal charge. There was an amiable conspiracy "to keep the P.M. at home." For a little while, he submitted. But a few weeks after the invasion beachheads had been driven in, he could stand it no longer.

One day, in August of 1944, this correspondent happened to be at a British fighter base in Normandy. Word spread across that part of the front: "Churchill is coming over!" Soon, as we all anxiously watched the skies, a captured German observation plane began a wobbly descent.

Out stepped the pudgy figure in his square black hat — and with something in his pocket, which may have been a bottle of brandy. The prime minister's pilot was an air vice-marshal, who did not succeed in his earnest efforts not to look disapprovingly at this adventure. After all, to fly over an active British front in a German aircraft was, so to speak, a little dangerous.

But Churchill himself was in high good humor. He announced he had come to brief the troops on the attempt that had been made on Hitler's life in Germany in July. "They missed the old . . ." he said with a grin to the airmen sitting in a semi-circle around him.

"But," he added, with a great wave of his cigar, "there's time yet."

Ignore Thumb Sucking in Young Children, Says Molner

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have a year old baby who sucks his thumb. I have tried everything from gloves to guards and still he works them off. He is very good and healthy and people say I will make him nervous if I continue to try to break him of this.—Mrs. S.L."

Since I am so old that I realize that I can't keep up with everything new that comes along, I've asked for help.

By that, friends, I'm trying to be cute and say that I've passed the 50 mark by a year or two. Personally, I think you have to be 50 years before you are willing to admit that none of us knows it all, and all we can do is be sincere and do the best we can.

Anyway, I have had some notions about thumb-sucking, and this time I wondered whether I was right or wrong in my notions. So I passed the question along to an authority in child care. I was greatly gratified by his reply, because he said (in effect) that my ideas on this are still up-to-date and in accordance with the best modern knowledge.

Common Habit

With your permission I'll simply report what he wrote in a memorandum on the subject, because he specializes in care of babies and anyway I think he's as right as you can get. He sent six points to me on this topic.

Thumb sucking in infants is very common and mother need not be embarrassed or apologetic.

Thumb sucking probably satisfies some emotional need, M.G.E.

High blood pressure, which puts extra pressure on the rare cases in which, for the only one, but an important one. Low pressure doesn't cause strokes.

Suspicious Mole
Note to Mrs. E.B.: Surgery is the quickest, surest, simplest and also least expensive way of removing a suspicious mole.

rarely a cause of deformed teeth.
Thumb sucking in older children often indicates that they need help with some problem they cannot solve alone.
So my advice was (and still is, on the basis of his support) that you just forget it. In his own sweet way, baby will stop automatically, just as he will lose all of his other baby habits and be a big boy before you know it!
Deformed teeth don't result from thumb sucking except in the rare cases in which, for unusual reasons, a child still sucks his thumb after the teeth have become well developed. For the year-old baby (or 2-year-old or 3-year-old) forget it and let nature take its course. Nature, after all, is smarter than all of us.
Factor In Strokes
"Dear Dr. Molner: Does high blood pressure or low pressure produce strokes?" — Mrs. M.G.E.
High blood pressure, which puts extra pressure on the rare cases in which, for the only one, but an important one. Low pressure doesn't cause strokes.
Suspicious Mole

Peaches' Jewels Brings $50,000

San Francisco — The jewels and baubles of Peaches Browning, a nostalgic name from the Roaring Twenties, were auctioned off Wednesday for an estimated $50,000.

Advance appraisals on the trinkets Peaches had collected in a front paged career of four marriages had ranged up to $250,000.

Gem dealers did most of the bidding and buying in the Sutter street sales room which was well filled with women contemporaries of the late Peaches.

The auction was a proceeding in settling the estate of Mrs. Frances "Peaches" Heenan Browning Hynes Civelli Willson. She died two years ago at 46 in her New York apartment after a fall in her bathroom.

She had rocketed to her page one place in jazz age history 30 years earlier with the first of her marriages. She was 15 when she and Edward "Daddy" Browning, a free spending and eccentric New York real estate millionaire, were wed. Browning was 51 then.

Birds Aflame Present Chef's Touch at Home

Whether you are cooking a pair of birds to do justice to a hunter's bag or find them in the market freezer, add a final touch of elegance by serving them aflame.

The secret of flaming in the best chef's manner is to be sure that birds and the liquor you use are both warm before you set them aflame.

Warm about one-fourth cup of with one jigger of gin and one liquor in a small pan or ladle, set a match to this, and pour flaming, over the birds, for can move leg easily. When sure-fire results. Don't be shy done, remove trussing, place about varying the liquor you duck on a platter, heat one use. Gin adds a very subtle jigger of gin gently in a small flavor to duck, use Scotch, pan, set match to it, and pour brandy, bourbon, or orange-flavored liqueur to flavor small rock cornish game hens or pheasant. Spoon the flaming liquor over the birds at the table, to develop flavor and prolong the flames.

Flaming Duck

Clean and wash duck. Place five garlic cloves, two stalks celery, and one orange—unpeeled and cut in quarters—inside each duck. Rub well with salt and pepper, and a duck, or pheasant, or two rock combination of one tablespoon cornish game hens or trans-each of oil, kitchen browning form an ordinary roasting sauce or soy sauce, and hon-chicken into a new delight ey. Close opening by inserting Clean bird, season, place on-skewers and lacing, tie legs on, celery and carrot in cav-in place and tuck wings to-ity, truss and rub with oil or gether under duck. Roast in slow 325-degree oven about one hour, basting occasionally with drippings.

Meanwhile cook the neck and gizzard with celery tops, onion, salt and pepper in wa-ter to cover. Pour off drip-pings from roasting pan into one-half bowl or jar. Refrigerate.

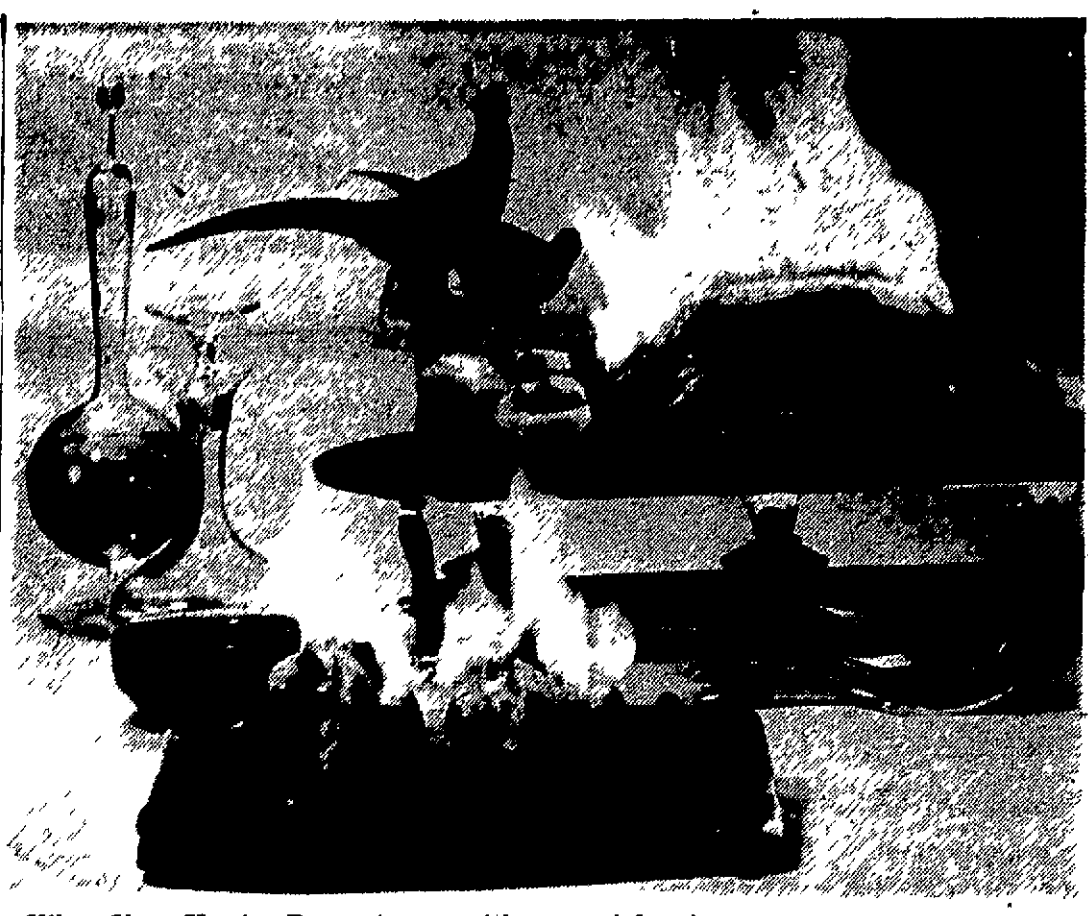

Return duck to oven, baste with one jigger of gin and one cup of duck broth; roast one-set a match to this, and pour half hour longer, or until you flaming, over the birds, for can move leg easily. When sure-fire results. Don't be shy done, remove trussing, place about varying the liquor you duck on a platter, heat one use. Gin adds a very subtle jigger of gin gently in a small flavor to duck, use Scotch, pan, set match to it, and pour brandy, bourbon, or orange-flavored liqueur to flavor fourth gin for two ducks.

For Gravy

Skim fat from chilled drip-pings; add water to drippings, if needed, to make one and one-half cups; blend in one-half cup sour cream. Add mix-ture to roasting pan; place over heat, stir until heated through; season to taste.

Orange Birds

This sauce may be used with a duck, or pheasant, or two rock combination of one tablespoon cornish game hens or trans-each of oil, kitchen browning form an ordinary roasting sauce or soy sauce, and hon-chicken into a new delight ey. Close opening by inserting Clean bird, season, place on-skewers and lacing, tie legs on, celery and carrot in cav-in place and tuck wings to-ity, truss and rub with oil or

When Your Hunter Presents you with a special prize, or you want to dramatize a pair of birds for an elegant dinner, the flavor and the flame of an accent of liquor lends new distinction to ducks, game hens—or just plain chicken. The secret of successful flambeeing is to have both the birds and the beverage warm.

Prepared Dips Now Available in Three Different Flavors

Mighty handy to have around is a new prepared dip available locally in three flavors—toasted onion, blue cheese and cheddar.

A party pepper-upper, it's ready to go with potato chips and crackers, wheat thins, rye crisp and corn chips, toasted bread fingers. It's completely dipable when it is used directly from the refrig-erator as well as when it's served at room temperature. For a festive air, place the container in a bowl of chipped ice. This chilling treatment doesn't change its dipping consistence one bit.

It's a stuffing for celery and a filling for petite cream puffs and sandwiches.

When the hors d'oeuvres tray is passed, there's the dip again as a sparky 'dunker' for chilled cooked shrimp, chunks of bologna, cocktail sausages or fish sticks.

Pinch of Nutmeg

When you're frying chick-en, go gourmet with a smid-geon of ground nutmeg add-ed to the batter or seasoned flour.

fat. Roast at 325 degrees un-til tender.

Pour off all except two ta-blespoons of fat floating on top of the pan gravy. Reserve this, skim off remaining fat, and pour one cup of the gravy itself into a small saucepan (add bouillon, if necessary, to extend drippings).

Work one tablespoon of flour into a smooth paste with the reserve hot fat and stir well into gravy. Season with salt and cayenne.

Grate the yellow part of the peel of an orange, and add one-third cup orange juice. Add this to gravy, then add one tablespoon orange brandy and stir in one tablespoon bit-ter orange marmalade. Heat until blended, and pour over birds.

Heat one - fourth cup of Scotch, brandy or other liquor separately in a small pan or ladle, set a match to this, and pour, flaming, over the birds.

Data Shows Pork To be Plentiful In Winter Months

Now is the time of year when fresh pork is plentiful, and this year's pork produc-tion is keeping up with past years. The pork picture will probably be brighter as the winter progresses.

According to the available data from the U. S. Depart-ment of Agriculture, the plans the farmers of the nation made last fall for more hogs mean more pork early next year. More of this pork that will be coming to market will be of higher quality—more lean and less fat—thanks to the careful management of breeders and farmers.

Beef supplies are still run-ning a little lower than last year, 5 per cent below 1957. Cattle producers over the country have been taking ad-vantage of the lush pasture-land that resulted when rain ended years of drought and have been building up their herds. You don't see as much veal for the same reason, 7 per cent less than last year. So, while there has been a steadily increasing supply of beef on the ranges, there still is a somewhat reduced supply of beef on the market.

After two years of steadily decreasing meat supplies, the last few weeks have seen pro-duction pick up, and 1959 promises to be a good year for meat.

Holly-Wreath Pizzas

Holiday pizzas are designed to keep you out of the kitchen and with your guests most o the time. Use a packaged mix to make individual rounds or big round pies. Decorate them with sliced pimiento - stuffed green olives around the edge, a la holly wreath. Serve with one olives, carrot and celery sticks.

The Flavor of Fruit Is What makes this gelatin salad taste so good. Apple flavored gelatin is dissolved in one cup of hot water with one-half teaspoon of salt added. Add one-third cup pineapple juice, two-thirds cup cold water and one tablespoon lemon juice. When this mix-ture is chilled until slightly thickened fold in one-half cup diced apple, one-half cup banana slices, three-fourths cup crushed pineapple and one-half cup chopped wal-nuts. Chill until firm.

Small Potatoes Misnomer, Fit Several Recipes

It's too bad, that the phrase "small potatoes" has come to mean "undesirable," even when applied to people. Actu-ally, says the U.S. Depart-ment of Agriculture, there are times when small potatoes will make you happier than big ones.

If you're in a hurry, for ex-ample, but want to cook pota-toes whole, use the small ones, because they get done more quickly. If you're making parsley-buttered, or creamed potatoes, use the small ones, because it means more sauce for a given amount of potato. Don't be unhappy if you find some small potatoes in a bag of mostly big ones. Even the government standards for size A potatoes require only 60 per cent of the potatoes in a bag to be up to standard size of 2 1/2 inches diameter. The other 40 per cent can be more than a half-inch smaller. When you find some of these small po-tatoes in the bag that you bring home from the store, don't worry about it; just fix them in some way that gives an advantage to the little fel-lers in the potato bin.

Crusty Brown Potatoes

Crusty brown potatoes are round cousins to French fries. The potatoes should be boiled to start, which makes crusty browns an ideal way to use leftovers. Heat deep fat; drop in whole boiled potatoes, and cook until they are golden brown and crisp. Sprinkle with salt, and serve piping hot.

It's Still Chickens For Best Meat Buys

Many Bargains Available Now on Fruit,
Vegetable Counters; Potatoes are Tops

If the family isn't too tired of poultry after the Thanksgiving holidays and the shopper is looking around for economical meat buys, it's still chicken that heads the list. Other meat, with the exception of ham, remains rather high.

Despite the fact that chicken has gone up a few cents a pound in the last week, it's a leader at from 33 to 37 cents a pound. Hams are good at 49 cents a pound, as are picnics at 33 cents a pound. The latter have dropped a few cents during the week.

A sampling of other meat prices shows rib roast from 79 to 89 cents, round steak from 83 to 89 cents, sirloin steak from 89 cents to $1.09, chuck from about 45 cents upward, pork chops from 79 to 89 cents, pork steak from 49 to 59 cents, veal shoulder steak at 79 cents, lamb steak at 79 cents and leg of lamb at 79 cents a pound.

Eggs Down
Eggs are more reasonable than they've been for a long time, with a dozen Grade A large now tagged from 51 to 57 cents.

Citrus fruits and apples are excellent buys on produce counters and should continue so throughout the winter.

California eating oranges are about 35 cents a dozen, Florida juice oranges are 39 cents a dozen and grapefruit are bargains at 10 for 49 cents for the white meat variety and 10 for 59 cents for pink meats. Tangerines are good at 25 cents a dozen.

cents and yellow Delicious at 25 cents a pound.

Cranberries also are good buys at 19 cents a pound and, like the other winter fruits, should remain reasonable for the next several months.

Vegetable Bargains

Bargains are plentiful on vegetable counters as well. Leading the list are Wisconsin potatoes at 10 pounds for 25 cents, Idaho at 10 pounds for 59 cents, acorn squash at 3 cents apiece, butterfly squash at 5 cents apiece, cauliflower at 29 cents a head, broccoli at 33 cents a bunch, red cabbage at 8 cents a pound, green cabbage at 5 cents a pound and brussels sprouts at 25 cents a box.

Moderate to high priced are celery at 29 cents a bunch, cucumbers at 10 cents a bunch, radishes at 10 cents a bunch, green peppers at 13 cents apiece, green beans at 25 cents a pound, wax beans at 25 cents a pound and peas in the pod at 25 cents a pound. The price of lettuce has to be watched closely because the market moves so rapidly up and down. Right now it is priced high at 29 cents a head.

Gumdrop Tree

To make a bright, eatable gumdrop tree for the holidays, gather together one large gumdrop, a piece of wire and six small gumdrops. Stick wire through flat side of big gumdrop, which forms the tree top. Roll flat the small gumdrops and skewer them onto wire with candies overlapping to form tree trunk.

Press on bright candy trim. Add a flattened yellow gumdrop star on the top of the tree.

An Apple Kuchen Delicious is this onpple slices are nipped into the dough and with yeast. After the dough has raised, ae made from biscuit mix, but combined covered with sugar and spice mixture.

Biscuit Mix, Yeast Used to Make Delicious Apple Kuchen

Who would not admit to nostalgia for the heavenly aroma and tantalizing flavor of home baking? Yet, for the busy housewife, saving time is of the essence—and many of the old-fashioned yeast recipes called for as many as three risings, and half a day of time.

So a new method has been devised that saves time but retains the same good qualities of old fashioned baking—the biscuit-yeast method. The crust of Apple Kuchen can be made this new quick method. You save time many ways.

There are only a few ingredients to measure—just four to knead a fraction of the time it takes in traditional methods. Roll each half into 10-inch circles. Fit into two greased 9 to 20. At this point the dough isn't ready for shaping and filling. It just rises once and that's after it's shaped and filled.

Hot Apple Kuchen

1 cup warm (not hot) water
1 pkg active dry yeast
1 egg
1 tablespoon sugar
2 cups biscuit mix
3 to 4 cups sliced apples

2-3 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons butter
Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add egg, one tablespoon sugar and biscuit mix. Beat vigorously for two minutes.

Turn dough onto surface well dusted with biscuit mix. Knead until smooth, about 20 times.

Divide dough into two parts. Roll each half into 10-inch circles. Fit into two greased 9 to 20. At this point the dough isn't ready for shaping and fill-half in each pan, pressing each slice into dough slightly.

Mix two-thirds cup of sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg. Sprinkle over apples. Dot with butter. Cover and let rise in a warm place (85 degrees) about one hour.

Bake in 375-degree oven, about 20 to 25 minutes. Serve hot with whipped cream.

This Special Sauce
For Sweet Potatoes

Here's a new and tasty way to prepare sweet potatoes.

Peel, cut in halves and bake. While they are cooking, prepare the candy sauce this way: Add to one cup of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of honey, a teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of cinnamon, and a tablespoonful of melted butter. Warm over low heat, and then gently spoon over potato halves. Allow to heat in oven just before serving.

Sauce is enough for four potatoes or eight halves.

Babies Can Eat Non-Oily Fish at About 10 Months

To give variety to babies' diets and to provide plenty of easily digested protein, minerals and vitamins so necessary to the health of growing children, many pediatricians advise serving fish once or twice a week.

These doctors believe that adding new foods to a baby's diet before he is a year old, before he becomes too opinionated, makes a happier baby.

In "The Common Sense Book of Baby and Child Care" (published by Duell, Sloan & Pearce), Dr. Benjamin Spock says that by 10 or 12 months a baby may be served a non-oily fish, such as flounder, haddock and halibut.

He suggests substituting fish for meat at lunchtime. If the mother is serving the same boiled, baked or broiled fish the family is eating, Dr. Spock says, she should crumble the fish in her fingers to tie salt.

Cranberry Conserve

Cook one pound fresh cranberries with one cup water until skins burst, about eight minutes. Add two cups diced peeled apples, one cup diced fresh oranges, one-half cup seedless raisins and three and one-half cups sugar. Cook until mixture thickens, about 25 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in one-half cup chopped nuts and one-fourth teaspoon ground cinnamon. Turn into hot sterilized jars. Seal at once.

be sure there are no bones. This recipe suggests flaking the fish and adding it to potato or rice, or poaching fish fillets in milk like this:

Poached In Milk
Pour a small amount of milk in a frying pan. Bring to boil. Turn heat down. Add boneless fish fillets. Cover pan and let cook over very low heat, about five minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork.

Serve with butter and a little salt.

New Pork Dish Uses Cranberries

Here's a party dish that teams economical pork with cranberries. It also may be used as a welcome change for a family that is tiring of chops, loin roast and shoulder cuts.

Cranberry Pork Loaf
Grind equal parts fresh pork and cured ham; combine with egg, bread crumbs and season lightly.

Oil a baking pan and sprinkle with brown sugar. Spread whole cranberry sauce evenly over bottom of the pan and place pork loaf on top of the sauce.

Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, until thoroughly done.

Serve upside down; the cranberry sauce will provide a colorful and mouth-watering accent to the hearty flavor of the loaf.

Dessert for Family Dinner takes on holiday airs with this Christmas Wreath cake. Both cake and frosting are made with handy mixes, a golden yellow loaf-size mix used for the cake which is baked in an 8-inch ring mold to give it its wreath shape. Two packages of creamy vanilla frosting mix are prepared and put on the cake after it is cool. Gumdrops are used for decoration, green ones flattened and cut into shape are the holly leaves and red ones are used for the berries.

Sauce for Serving Over Broccoli

This recipe for broccoli will be easy to prepare during the hour before serving time, because it calls for a minimum of ingredients and effort, but a maximum of eating pleasure.

Cook a 1-pound bunch or one package frozen broccoli in enough boiling, salted water to barely cover vegetable until broccoli stems are tender when pierced with a fork. Takes about 10 to 15 minutes. Be sure the pan is uncovered and the heat high.

Then drain and serve with this easy and delicious lemon mayonnaise: Stir two tablespoons lemon juice and a good dash of paprika into one-half cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. Heat sauce over low heat. Spread sauce over broccoli just before serving.

Holiday Bread Topping

When sweet Christmas breads are in the making, before baking brush tops with melted butter and sprinkle with a blend of granulated sugar and ground nutmeg using one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg to each one-third sugar.

From Alaskan Waters

Poaching Desirable Method For Cooking Salmon Steaks

The spotlight is on Alaska these days and a great deal of publicity is being given to our forty-ninth state's biggest industries, of which salmon fishing is one.

In fact, much of our salmon comes from the icy waters of the North Pacific. Although canned salmon has been a staple in American mon moist, simple poaching directions are given here.

As an accompaniment to poached salmon steaks, you may serve lemon or lime wedges, a creamy egg sauce or a sharp tartar sauce.

Poached Salmon Steaks
6 salmon steaks
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pickling spices
Place water at least one and one-half inches deep in skillet or pan large enough to hold steaks side by side. Roasting pan placed over two burners works nicely.

Add salt and spices, and bring water to boil. Turn heat down so that water just simmers.

Add salmon steaks and cook 10 minutes, spooning off fat from top of water as it collects.

Carefully remove steaks and serve on a hot platter, with Tartar Sauce.

Tartar Sauce
Mix together one-half cup chopped sour pickles, two tablespoons chopped capers (optional), one teaspoon dry mustard, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one teaspoon chopped chives, six chopped stuffed olives, two cups mayonnaise.

ADAH

"And Lamech took unto him two wives the name of the one was Adah . . ."

—Genesis 4:19

Adah was born in the early dawn of Biblical history, in the copper-stone age.

As a girl she probably lived in the fields, where she helped tend the flocks and to cultivate small fields of grain and vegetables.

Only a short time before had man learned to put fire to work for him. But the pottery wheel was as yet unknown, and the youthful Adah carried water from the river or the spring in a woven wicker vessel covered with clay.

Nevertheless, Adah must have been a sensitive, artistic dreamer, for she was later to become the mother of two great arts, through the sons she would bear—Jabal and Jubal.

Surely the dream that took shape in Jubal's mind as he fashioned the first musical instrument to reproduce the tone of God's creation, was born in the girlhood reveries of his mother.

It was she who first heard the melody of rain as she took shelter beneath the green foliage of some great tree. Afterward, standing beside the oxen as they stretched their necks and dilated their nostrils to inhale the fragrance of the wet fields, it was Adah who groped toward expression of the gladness in her heart.

When her sons were born, she gave them the beauty she had saved from these early years, the look of fruits slowly ripening and swelling beneath the big dark leaves; the burial of the seed in the earth, and its resurrection in the form of tender stalks and ripening grain.

It was not from his father Lamech that Jubal inherited the symphony of wind and water and leaves that played in his head. The song of Lamech was a song of death: "I have slain a man to my wounding . . ."

But Adah sang of life.

Yam Form of Sweet Potato, Most Grown in Louisiana

Not all of us distinguish between the terms yams and sweet potatoes. Actually, a yam is a form of sweet potato, but not all sweet potatoes are yams!

Sweet potatoes may be dry or moist, but yams fairly drip with syrup.

So many yams are raised in Louisiana that we associate them with this state. According to tradition, the slaves from Africa called this vegetable—that grew wild in the West Indies—Nyami. In their own language Nyami is believed to have meant "good, good." For many years northerners could not enjoy the Louisiana yam because it spoiled easily during shipment. Today, special methods for protection have been perfected and many come to market during the long season.

Several other states including North Carolina, Texas, Virginia, and New Jersey produce sweet potatoes and yams but none of them can compete in quantity production with Louisiana.

This vegetable has many uses. It is often baked and is a great favorite in candied form. It adds an interesting note to certain casserole dishes that are favored by so many homemakers because they can be prepared ahead of time except for the last minute heating.

In canned form, both sweet potatoes and yams are popular as an asset to a quick meal. A can or two is often bought ahead of time so as to be on hand when time presses.

Yam-Chicken Casserole
1 cup shortening
1 cup flour

2 cups milk
1 cup grated cheese
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup finely chopped celery
2 cups diced cooked chicken
6 medium yams, cooked, peeled and cut in half or 2 cans yams, drained and halved Heat shortening. Add flour and blend. Gradually add milk and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add cheese and seasonings. Cook, stirring frequently, until cheese is melted. Add celery and chicken and mix well.
(Pour into greased 2-quart casserole. Top with yams and

Yam Nut Crisp
8 medium yams, cooked, peeled and mashed or 2 cans yams, drained and mashed
2 tablespoons milk
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup crushed corn flakes
½ cup brown sugar

¼ cup chopped walnuts
Combine yams and milk and mix well. Place in greased 1-quart casserole, and dot with butter. Combine remaining ingredients. Top yam mixture with nut mixture and bake in 350-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Gumdrop Piglets

To make a gumdrop piglet for holiday decorations, fasten two large gumdrops back to back with toothpicks. Candy-coated licorice may be used for ears, nose and tail. Halved toothpicks make excellent legs for the critter. Also different colored gumdrops can make a herd of piglets very gay indeed.

Nutmeg Carrot Saute

For carrot lovers, saute partially cooked sliced carrots in butter which has been blended with salt, ground black pepper and ground nutmeg.

Don't Forget, Candy Makes Fine Gifts

Candy, as the old saying goes, is dandy; and never more so than at Christmas. We think you'll win loud applause if you make up a few batches of the golden molasses candies.

In fact, few Christmas presents can compete with homemade candy from the point of view of ease, expense, and time-saving.

Molasses Coconut Chews
1 cup molasses
2 cup light corn syrup
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 tablespoons shortening
1 teaspoon vanilla
Few grains salt
2 cups chopped coconut
Combine molasses, corn syrup, vinegar and shortening; cook slowly, stirring occasionally, to 240 degrees or when a heat; add butter, nut meats, small quantity dropped in cold vanilla extract and salt. Beat water forms soft ball.

Remove from heat; add vanilla and salt; stir until bubbling; cut into squares.

bling stops. Add coconut. Drop by teaspoons on greased pan.

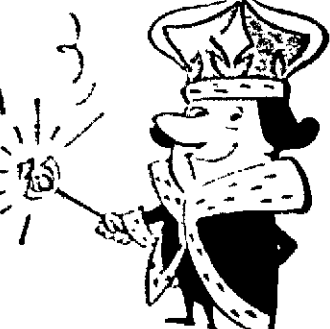

Raisin Peanut Clusters
1 cup molasses
1 cup light corn syrup
1 teaspoon cider vinegar
3 tablespoons butter
2 cups peanut meats
1 cup seedless raisins
Combine molasses, corn syrup and vinegar; cook slowly, stirring occasionally, to 250 degrees.

Remove from heat; add butter; mix well. Combine nut meats and raisins; add to molasses mixture. Drop by teaspoons on view of ease, expense, and time-saving.

Peanut
1 cup sugar
1 cup molasses
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup broken nut meats
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Few grains salt
Combine sugar, molasses and milk. Cook slowly, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Roll slowly, stirring occasionally, to 240 degrees or when a soft ball stage. Remove from heat; add butter, nut meats, small quantity dropped in cold vanilla extract and salt. Beat water forms soft ball.

Remove from heat; add vanilla and salt; stir until bubbling; cut into squares.

THE HIGH-PROTEIN FLOUR

Council Approves Regional Plan Consultant, With One Reservation

The city council Wednesday approved hiring Metropolitan Planners, Inc., by the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission—with one important reservation.

Final approval, aldermen decided by a unanimous vote, requires city approval of the contract between the consultant, the commission and the city.

The contract contains the proposed method of developing a master plan for orderly development of member municipalities on an area basis. Director of Public Works Duszynski has been critical of the method. He claims the proposal involves too much fact-gathering and too little applied planning.

The council unanimously endorsed the commission's change of fiscal year to calendar year basis and ordered paid the $8,000 of the city's share of first year master plan costs. The remainder, $9,100, will be paid if the city approves the Metropolitan contract.

Zone Changes

Citizens appeared at hearings, one of them to protest, as the council unanimously passed two zone changes.

Hans Wilke, 630 W. Summer street, protested rezoning Sylvester Parker's land at 1208 N. Richmond street to commercial and light manufacturing.

Parker said he and partner, John Hanus, intend to construct a finishing room on their laundry, People's Laundry and Ayr-Mor Cleaners, 633 W. Wisconsin avenue.

Carl Glebbe, Jr., and Paul Glebbe, 801 E. South River street and 709 W. Third street, wanted to know why land at 813 and 821 E. South River is being rezoned to local business district.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe told them Central States Engineering Inc., now at 1000 W. College avenue, intends to build a 1-story office with parking facilities. The firm works closely with the Institute of Paper Chemistry, he said.

Planning commission members thought the move advantageous, he explained, because two old houses would be removed and the firm would give 30 feet for the opening of S. East street between E. South River and E. Harrison streets.

Bond Sale

Final approval for sale of $290,000 in general obligation bonds to defray the 5-year installment paying plan for special assessments was granted. Bond bids will be opened Dec. 16 by the board of public works.

Compulsory Retirement

The council deferred a decision until its next organizational meeting in April on whether to establish a rule requiring employees to retire at 65.

Prange Work

H. C. Prange company was given permission to block the sidewalk in front of 116, 118 and 120 W. College avenue.

while buildings are demolished to make way for construction of its multi-million-dollar, 6-story new department store. A temporary plank walk will be constructed into the street for about six months, starting Jan. 14. Permission was granted to close Midway street for the same period.

Traffic Study

A request was ordered forwarded to the state for a traffic study of the Meade street and Wisconsin avenue intersection.

The council wants state recommendations on how to eliminate traffic hazards cited by Appleton Coated Paper company officials.

Parking Ban

An ordinance restricting parking to 90 minutes on both sides of Lawrence street from Walnut street to Memorial drive was ordered drafted. The move was sought by the chamber of commerce to prevent all-day parking and make more parking spaces available to shoppers.

Prospect-Oneida

Ald. Bogan's resolution calling for addition of a traffic lane on Prospect avenue as it approaches Oneida street was sent to the street and sanitation committee.

Ald. Hannemann said widening the street is out of the question because it would eliminate driveway access for residents. He called for widening the corner and a parking ban.

Service Outside City

The council endorsed a ban on extension of water and sewer services outside the city. The resolution also says the water commission shall make no commitments extending services outside the city.

Official Map

The engineering department was ordered to revise the official map of streets and alleys to provide for these changes:

1. Alleys parallel to Wisconsin avenue in place of rear yard requirements.
2. A street parallel to Kernan nan avenue between Kernan and South Meadows plat.

3. Opening of S. East street between E. South River street and E. Harrison street.

Roads Outside City

The regional planning commission was asked to bring the official map of streets outside the city, but within the city's planning jurisdiction, up-to-date. The commission also was asked to seek 70 and 90-foot street right-of-ways.

Wage Steps

Employees were advanced from one wage classification to the next highest in the city pay plan, a perfunctory move taken each year. It includes granting a $240 a year hike to all those now in the last step of the plan and leaving its jurisdiction Jan. 1.

A new pay plan will be devised by the state bureau of personnel. The finance committee is considering three weeks vacation for all employees after 15 years service, a move sought by the street and sanitation committee.

Transfer Funds

A total of $1,230.85 was transferred from the fire station site fund to six accounts in which there was overspending in the 1958 budget.

Seek Minutes

All boards, commissions and committees of the city were ordered to report their meeting times and places to City Clerk Broehm a week in advance and to file minutes with him within 10 days. Broehm will place the times and places on a bulletin board outside his office.

Remodel City Hall

Fix Hillside

Fill material was ordered placed at the base of the hillside at the rear of W. Sloan

High Bridge

Lawrence college was awarded $2,300 for 1.39 acres of land needed as part of the College-Candee high bridge project.

Kramer Recovering

Fire Chief Neumann reported Capt. Harold Kramer, injured in the Riverside Greenhouse fire, has been at home since Nov. 22 and is recovering rapidly and will be off duty only about six more weeks.

Fresh Mass Of Cold Air Due Today

A fresh mass of cold air moved into the Fox Cities this morning, dropping temperatures from 32 at 6 a.m. to 28 at 8 a.m.

The cold air is not expected to produce such cold readings as the region experienced earlier. Lows tonight should be from 5 to 15 degrees above zero.

While the mercury clung slightly above the freezing mark late last night, half-rain, half-snow flurries pelted much of the area on the wings of fresh northwesterly winds.

The wind turned out of the west this morning at about 18 miles per hour. This activity

Bond Sale

Final approval for sale of $290,000 in general obligation bonds to defray the 5-year installment paying plan for special assessments was granted. Bond bids will be opened Dec. 16 by the board of public works.

Compulsory Retirement

The council deferred a decision until its next organizational meeting in April on whether to establish a rule requiring employees to retire at 65.

Prange Work

H. C. Prange company was given permission to block the sidewalk in front of 116, 118 and 120 W. College avenue.

Service Outside City

The council endorsed a ban on extension of water and sewer services outside the city. The resolution also says the water commission shall make no commitments extending services outside the city.

Official Map

The engineering department was ordered to revise the official map of streets and alleys to provide for these changes:

1. Alleys parallel to Wisconsin avenue in place of rear yard requirements.
2. A street parallel to Kernan

Transfer Funds

A total of $1,230.85 was transferred from the fire station site fund to six accounts in which there was overspending in the 1958 budget.

Seek Minutes

All boards, commissions and committees of the city were ordered to report their meeting times and places to City Clerk Broehm a week in advance and to file minutes with him within 10 days. Broehm will place the times and places on a bulletin board outside his office.

Remodel City Hall

Fix Hillside

Fill material was ordered placed at the base of the hillside at the rear of W. Sloan

Council Approves Regional Plan Consultant, With One Reservation

The city council Wednesday approved hiring Metropolitan Planners, Inc., by the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission—with one important reservation.

Final approval, aldermen decided by a unanimous vote, requires city approval of the contract between the consultant, the commission and the city.

The contract contains the proposed method of developing a master plan for orderly development of member municipalities on an area basis. Director of Public Works Duszynski has been critical of the method. He claims the proposal involves too much fact-gathering and too little applied planning.

The council unanimously endorsed the commission's change of fiscal year to calendar year basis and ordered paid the $8,000 of the city's share of first year master plan costs. The remainder, $9,100, will be paid if the city approves the Metropolitan contract.

Zone Changes

Citizens appeared at hearings, one of them to protest, as the council unanimously passed two zone changes.

Hans Wilke, 630 W. Summer street, protested rezoning Sylvester Parker's land at 1208 N. Richmond street to commercial and light manufacturing.

Parker said he and partner, John Hanus, intend to construct a finishing room on their laundry, People's Laundry and Ayr-Mor Cleaners, 633 W. Wisconsin avenue.

Carl Glebbe, Jr., and Paul Glebbe, 801 E. South River street and 709 W. Third street, wanted to know why land at 813 and 821 E. South River is being rezoned to local business district.

Ald. Kenneth Priebe told them Central States Engineering Inc., now at 1000 W. College avenue, intends to build a 1-story office with parking facilities. The firm works closely with the Institute of Paper Chemistry, he said.

Planning commission members thought the move advantageous, he explained, because two old houses would be removed and the firm would give 30 feet for the opening of S. East street between E. South River and E. Harrison streets.

Teachers Will Make Plans for Meeting Here

City to be Site Of Annual Parley For Northeast Area

About 75 teachers from this area will attend a planning session of the Northeastern Wisconsin conference of the Wisconsin Education association to be held at 9 a. m. Saturday at Appleton High school.

W. A. Witte, assistant AIES principal and president of the conference, will preside.

The NEWEA convention will be held in Appleton Friday, April 10, 1959. Approximately 6,000 teachers will be attending the convention. Appleton is the host city to the convention every five years, rotating with other large cities in the area.

Chairmen of the sectional divisions for the convention, the NEWEA executive committee, and the officers of the association will be at Saturday's meeting to formulate plans for the convention.

Other officers are Jerome McCormick, Green Bay, vice president; Francis Sundberg, Green Bay, secretary, and Kenneth Peterson, Neenah, treasurer.

A coffee hour will be held from 8:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. Saturday.

Today, serving will be a group of home arts students under the direction of Miss Catherine Spence, head of the home arts department.

A dinner at noon will be served at the St. John Evangelical and Reformed church.

John Schaefer Will Head Dairy Group

John Schaefer, of Marten's dairy, Neenah, was elected president of the Tri-Cities Dairy association when the organization held its annual dinner meeting Wednesday.

Other officers are Matt Schaefer, of Schaefer Dairy Products company, Appleton, vice president; and Roy Gear, of Gear Dairy company, Menasha, secretary-treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors were John Schaefer, Matt Schaefer, Gear, Richard Galloway, of Galloway company, Neenah; Harvey D. Knorr, of Meadowview Dairy, Menasha; Jack Bogrand, of Bogrand's Quality Foods, Neenah; and Theodore Birling, of Birling's dairy, Menasha.

Knorr was named chairman of the board and Gordon P. Gill was appointed to his fourth consecutive term as assistant secretary and counsel.

Public Hearings Planned on Code for Inflammable Liquids

Public hearings on the repeal and recreation of the Wisconsin Inflammable Liquids code will be held at Eau Claire, Appleton, Milwaukee and Madison, the industrial commission announced today.

The Eau Claire hearing will be at the courthouse on Dec. 16; Appleton courthouse, Dec. 17; Milwaukee courthouse, Dec. 18; and Madison city-county building, Dec. 19. The hearings begin at 10 a. m.

Interested persons may appear and present facts, views and arguments relating to code changes. A copy of the proposed code may be obtained from the industrial commission's division of safety and buildings, Madison.

Survivors include the widow, two sisters, Mrs. Emma Holcomb, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Olive Davison, Fond du Lac, and a brother, Louis, Appleton.

Judge Backs CCC Camps for State Juvenile Delinquents

County Judge Stanley A. Staidl is in Milwaukee proposing a plan to the Wisconsin County and Juvenile Judges conference for forestry camps for juvenile delinquents. The meeting opened Wednesday and will end Friday.

Judge Staidl said he favors sending a boy to some sort of a camp modeled on the CCC projects of the 1930s, rather than to Waukesha school for boys. Difficulty with the school, Judge Staidl said, is that boys who have been in trouble a few times are brought into contact with more experienced youths and and of ten learn more criminal ways rather than being rehabilitated.

"It's increasingly plain we need some facility to take care of the delinquent youth between supervision at home or in a foster home, and an institution," says the judge.

In 1954, the Kefauver committee recommended establishment of a CCC-type camp program to rehabilitate juvenile delinquents. The national conference of juvenile judges in Richmond, Va., approved the idea and the Wisconsin group referred the matter to its legislative committee.

However, Judge Staidl said, the legislative group never submitted the proposal to the legislature because the power to establish the camps apparently lies within the department of public welfare.

Judge Staidl said he again will ask consideration of a minimum of four such camps to serve the state.

"It would be a far better thing to have these youths in a camp doing constructive work than to send them to a post-graduate school for crime," said the judge.

Mixed Trend On Exchange

Many Shares Edge Upward but Others Show Declines

New York —(AP)— The stock market tilted a little higher in the early afternoon today but there were quite a number of issues showing losses.

Favored stocks were in the aircraft and electronics group or associated in some way with the Defense Department's long-range satellite program. Rubber stocks also made good gains.

Oils and farm equipments were mostly higher. Steels, metals and motors were mixed. A handful of specialties again displayed independent strength.

U. S. Borax gained nearly 3 points while Olin Mathieson was up around 1 1/2.

Martin and United Aircraft made small gains while Gurnman added more than one point.

Goodrich gained a major fraction while Goodyear went whirling ahead nearly four points. Zenith also gained four.

U. S. Steel raced up one. Gulf, Standard Oil Indiana and Standard Oil New Jersey scored gains.

Kennecott fell nearly one point while Phelps Dodge gained.

6 Resolutions Cite Safety or Traffic Hazards

All Referred to Committee for Recommendations

Six resolutions involving what four aldermen regard as safety or traffic hazards were introduced at Wednesday's council meeting and were referred to committee for study.

Ald. Mrs. Stillings submitted four of them. They call for:

1. A policeman to direct traffic at Oneida street and Prospect avenue during peak traffic congestion, probably between 4 and 5 p.m. daily.
2. Revising the route fire trucks follow out of the downtown station and south on Oneida street. Oneida and Lawrence streets are 1-way streets and their intersection is a traffic hazard, she said. Trucks ought to travel Washington and Appleton streets to get on S. Oneida street, she believes.

3. Signs which carry names of streets being installed.

4. Making stop signs of uniform height throughout the city.

Can't See Lights

Ald. R. P. Groh wants the traffic lights at the northeast corner of Prospect avenue and Memorial drive changed so children can tell whether they may walk. The signals cannot be seen at this corner, he said.

Ald. Roy Pointer and Douglas Ogilvie called for protective rails on both sides of Wisconsin avenue at the Chicago and North Western Railway company overpass.

Would-be Robber Picks Wrong Man

Detroit — "I've got a gun, a mask and a pair of gloves and I'm all set to pull a robbery," Miguel Atkins confided to a motorist who gave him a ride.

"All I need is a getaway car. Maybe you'd like to join up," Atkins added.

Atkins said his regular partner was in jail following a supermarket holdup.

The motorist, J. D. Washington, an off duty policeman, pulled into a precinct station driveway and arrested Atkins.

Atkins was held for investigation of armed robbery.

He stressed motorists' legal responsibilities when involved in accidents and discussed various licensing activities.

He pointed out the increased load of the department, stating that about 16,000 pieces of mail are handled every day.

Economist Says Farm Prospects Look Good

Predicts Drop in Prices, but States U. S. Agriculture Can Stand Knocks

The 1959 Wisconsin agricultural outlook is good, John Schmidt, UW economist, told members of the Northeastern Wisconsin Farm Management association in Appleton Wednesday.

About 300 members met at the Fox co-op for their annual convocation.

Contrary to popular misconception, 1958 was an excellent year for farmers, Schmidt claimed. He cited better livestock prices, record crops, increased soil bank payments and a delayed 1957 harvest as reasons for rural prosperity this year.

Early Sale

The late 1957 harvest meant that some crops went on sale in 1958, the economist said.

Two of this year's prosperity factors won't be available next year, Schmidt noted. Soil bank payments have ended and there will be no late harvest.

He said the department of agriculture predicts a 5 to 10 per cent drop in prices. Factors clouding this year's picture slightly will be lower pork prices, end of acreage reserve and higher costs.

Bright Outlook

The farm economy will stand the knocks and remain in good shape, Schmidt asserted.

On the dairy front, supply will balance demand, he declared. Schmidt said there will be fewer cows, but greater production. Prices will be at 75 per cent of parity minimum.

The 1959 hog market presents the least optimistic view, according to Schmidt. He wouldn't predict how much prices would drop, but indicated it might be a lot.

Beef prices will remain about the same, he stated.

New Ideas

Claude O. Ebling, agricultural agent for the Soo Line railroad, urged association members to be ready to accept new ideas. He said the U.S. farmer's future depends on how willing he is to accept new concepts.

Representatives of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company put on a demonstration of electrical wiring on the farm.

City Given New Sale Price on Land Next To Industrial Park

George B. Vanden Heuvel, 1103 S. Perkins street, has made the city a new offer for his land north of the city's nearly 40-acre industrial development park.

He told the council Wednesday he will sell 1.75 acres for $4,000. His offer was referred to the council's industrial development committee for study.

Earlier, Vanden Heuvel offered two acres for $11,800. The committee Wednesday recommended turning down the offer and the council agreed.

Alderman Wants Golf Clubhouse For Youth Use

Ald. Thomas K. Schneider wants the Reid Municipal Golf course clubhouse used for a winter-time youth recreation program, he told the council Wednesday.

The alderman called on the council to place the clubhouse under recreation. Schneider commission direction between Oct. 15 and March 15.

Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover, he said, should then devise a program for youth.

The resolution was referred to committees, including the park board, for study.

The park board began talks of using the clubhouse for a youth center earlier this year and entered into negotiations to obtain Golf Pro Don Bartlett's services. Board Sec. Arthur W. Jones said the idea has been given up because of costs for deputies which would have to be hired.

Potato Growers Hear Praise for Group Marketing

Antigo — Wisconsin potato growers were told Wednesday they will do better in the market place by seeing eye to eye.

The advantages of group marketing were discussed by A. E. Mecker, executive secretary of the National Potato Council who spoke at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' Association, Inc.

He told 100 growers from all areas of the state "to consolidate to stop cut-throat competition."

He said only group marketing in one form or another can satisfy the needs of large volume buyers who must have dependable and continuous supplies and uniformity over grade over specific periods of time.

March of Dimes Seeks Parking Meters Use Two Days in January

The March of Dimes Wednesday asked for all dimes fed city parking meters on Jan. 15 and 16.

When the proceeds from dimes only are collected, they could be turned over to his organization any time at the city's convenience, he said.

Warns Barge in Sheboygan May Blow Up or Sink

Milwaukee — U.S. Marshall Lyle Milligan said Tuesday that if a barge in his custody doesn't sink at its dock in Sheboygan it might blow up.

He told a conference in the chambers of Federal Judge Nohl, Milwaukee diver, Robert Tehan that the barge, used last summer in the attempted salvage of the sunk-Prins Willem V., is afloat only because of pumps. But, he added, fumes from the pumps are trapped in the hold, and custody is costing $800 monthly.

The barge is tied up in connection with a suit by Max Nohl, Milwaukee diver, against Seaboard Excavators, the salvage firm of which he is secretary. Nohl contends the firm owes him money. Much of the conference was spent in trying to find a way to get the barge towed to a mudflat where the pumps and the $100-a-week caretaker won't be needed.

No Booze In Sight at Ceremony

London — (AP) — "No hard drinking during the ceremony" was the order yesterday when Queen Mother Elizabeth opened a new bungalow colony for retired barkeepers. A ribbon was cut and the queen mother strolled round the pleasant rows of little homes. Not a bottle was in sight.

Under a marquee she sipped tea with a jolly vintage of old pint pullers, each with more than 20 years' service at the bar, and their wives. Occasionally did some of the men's eyes stray to a silk curtain directly behind the queen mother's chair.

Howard King (Right) Wears a strange expression as he shoots a right to the head of Harold Johnson in the eighth round of their light heavyweight bout in Chicago Wednesday night. Johnson, however, was more aggressive and won on a unanimous decision.

NOTES and NOTIONS

Time alone will tell if the 1959 draft choices—of which three already are on their "paper" roster—will help end the Green Bay Packers' prolonged drought.

But, Randy Duncan — whose statements about being undecided are probably just so much jockeying for contract position—appears to be a sound choice in a year when the collegiate senior QB crop, as a whole, was not outstanding. Duncan distinguished himself game after game in the toughest league in college football.

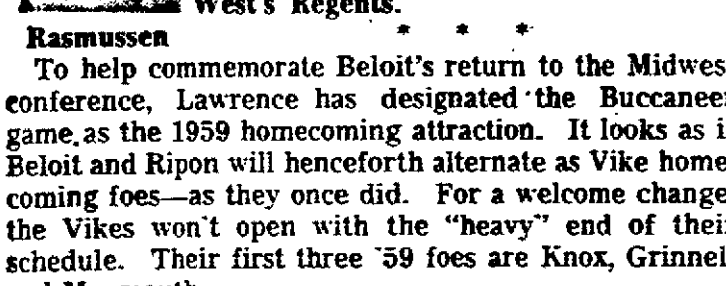

Judging by his performances in the Wisconsin and Notre Dame games (which I saw in person and via TV, respectively) I'd say he has the potential to be an NFL-caliber passer. The Packers have had varying success with passers as No. 1 draft choices. For example, they picked a gem in Cecil Isbell in 1938 but had little luck with Stan Heath in '49. "Babe" Parilli, of the draft class of '52, has been the on-again, off-again type of passer.

Tradition seems to be against Duncan in one respect. Comparatively few Big 10 QBs have become pro headliners. Otto Graham, of Northwestern, is certainly a jumbo-sized exception. Purdue's Isbell, who passed from left halfback, is another who reached the top. Illinois' Tommy O'Connell was just beginning to come along when he left the Browns. But, your Sammy Baughs, Bobby Laynes, Bob Waterfields, Eddie LeBarons, Davey O'Briens, Sid Luckman, Charlie Conerly, Tobin Rotes, Billy Wades, Norm Van Brocklins, etc., all played their college ball in other parts of the country.

Statistics to shudder by: The Packers have lost more games in the last 11 seasons than they did in their first 29 years combined. Since 1947, which was their last winning season (6-5-1), the Packers have lost 91 games while winning only 37 and tying two. During their fabulous first 29 years, the Bays lost only 88 times, while winning 231 games and tying 23.

Oshkosh has the largest student body from which to draw its athletes of any school in the Fox River Valley conference. According to the latest enrollment figures supplied by the WIAA, Oshkosh has 1,880 students, with Appleton a close second at 1,850. Others, in order, are Sheboygan Central, 1,630; Manitowoc, 1,511; Fond du Lac, 1,150; Green Bay East, 1,029; Green Bay West, 978; and Sheboygan North, 930.

In the area's other high-school conference—the Mid-Eastern—Neenah is the largest, with 1,026. Then, in order, come Kaukauna, 811; Two Rivers, 725; Menasha, 711; Shawano, 653; New London, 612; Clintonville, 440 and Kimberly, 346.

Lawrence sophomore Jim Rasmussen holds the all-time one-season scoring record for high school basketball players in Madison. In 1956-7, Rasmussen lit up scoreboards to the tune of 531 points for West's Regents.

To help commemorate Beloit's return to the Midwest conference, Lawrence has designated the Buccaneer game, as the 1959 homecoming attraction. It looks as if Beloit and Ripon will henceforth alternate as Vike homecoming foes—as they once did. For a welcome change, the Vikes won't open with the "heavy" end of their schedule. Their first three '59 foes are Knox, Grinnell and Monmouth.

Coach Bernie Heseltin has tabbed Carl Schwendler, Sr., "the all-time Lawrence football parent." Not only did the elder Schwendler see every Vike game—home and away—for the three years son Carl was on the varsity but missed only four practices in all that time. Best of all, Carl, Sr., is not the "Harvey Knox type" of father. He watched intently but never sought to interject unsolicited advice.

Dick Gast, toastmaster at the recent Vike banquet and member of Lawrence's latest winning grid team (1954) illustrated the esteem and respect present and former Heseltin players have for the veteran coach. Gast said that although he has been in service, has a job of his own and is married, "This is the first time I've had enough nerve to smoke in front of Coach Heseltin."

Lawrence plans some sort of an affair this school year to mark the thirty-fifth and twentieth anniversaries, respectively, of Art Denney's and Heseltin's arrivals at Lawrence.

Defense Gets Attention in Packer Camp

Green Bay Trains At Stanford for 49er Game Sunday

Post-Crescent News Service

Palo Alto, Calif.—The 49ers, like the Packers, haven't done much this year. The prospects, among other things, (1) almost beat the champion Baltimore Colts and (2) rolled up 539 yards against the Packers.

San Francisco had a 27-7 lead over the Colts and then developed weak knees, finally losing, 35 to 27, in the last quarter.

More Interest
The liberties taken with the Packers are of more interest in Packerland. The 49ers won the game (Milwaukee Nov. 23) by a score of 33 to 12. The count was tied 12-up with 8:52 left in the game. Then—in quick order, the 49ers took advantage of a defensive lapse and two Packer fumbles for three touchdowns.

Until then, the 49ers had marched and passed up and down the field like wildmen but the Packers always got tough enough to keep the show from getting out of hand. Gordy Soltau tried five field goals, made two, had two blocked and missed one.

Thus, the Packers, training here at Stanford university, are giving special attention to their defense. Coach Ray McLean's object is to keep the 49ers from keeping the ball too long and too often—at least not for 500 yards. The 49ers produced 256 yards rushing and 283 passing.

The big guns were: Y. A. Tittle with 20 completions in 35 attempts for 283 yards and three touchdowns; Billy Wilson, with eight pass catches for 128 yards; and Hugh McElhenny with 159 yards in 22 rushes.

The 49ers leaped from eighth to third place in the National league in total offense—thanks to the Packers and the Colts (at least in the first half) on the last two Sundays.

San Francisco's big weapon is the forward pass. Tittle ranks only 11th in passing but he has three receivers among the league's top 10 — Clyde Connor, R. C. Owens and Wilson.

New York — (U) — Randy Duncan of Iowa, the 1958 No. 1 draft choice of professional football, heads the backfield of the Associated Press All-America team announced today.

Team ed with him are Pete Dawkins of Army's undefeated team; Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, the national champion; and Bill Austin of Rutgers, who lifted into prominence again the historic school were football was born.

Jerry Stalcup, University of Wisconsin guard and line-backer, was named to the second team. Stalcup was one of the real standouts as the Badgers enjoyed their best season (7-1-1) since 1951. He was able and aggressive on offense and a mainstay on defense.

First team ends are Jim Burket of Auburn at center; Houston of Ohio State and Don Meredith of Southern "Buddy" Dial of Rice. At Methodist, Dick Bass of the tackle are Brock Strom, the College of the Pacific, Bob key man of the surprising Air Anderson of Army, and Red White of Ohio State in the Force academy, and Bates of Oregon State Zeke backfield. Manty Meets North Manitowoc opens defense of its Fox River Valley conference title Friday night at Sheboygan North. Oshkosh, the only team unbeaten in pre-conference play, travels to Green Bay East. Fond du Lac appears at West.

Terror outlook is neither as bright as it was the first day of practice nor as foreboding as it was about 10 o'clock the night of Nov. 21.

Labeled Darkhorse
While no one was audacious enough to predict an unprecedented fourteenth title for AHS when practice opened (what with all five 1957-8 starters having been graduated), there was considerable regard for Terror potential. FRVC writers agreed by labeling AHS as a probable darkhorse.

Then, two practices before the non-league season opener, came the disabling knee injury that caused the sidelining of 6-5 Ron Abel, who had loomed as the team's bellwether. The worst of Terror fans' fears about the immensity of Abel's loss seemed to be realized the night of Nov. 21 when Kimberly manhandled the Appletonians, 74-44.

That rock-bottom state of affairs lasted only five days, because the Terrors about-faced in their next start and carried Menasha to overtime before bowing, 66-64.

That marked improvement

Giants Get Sanford, Compete With Braves For Johnny Temple

Give Up Gomez and Catcher Thomas To Acquire NL's 'Rookie of 1957'

Washington — (U) — The San Francisco Giants, who Wednesday acquired pitcher Jack Sanford from the Phils in exchange for pitcher Ruben Gomez and catcher Valmy Thomas, have indicated that they are competing against the Milwaukee Braves in a bid for Cincinnati's Johnny Temple.

"We want Temple, too," he was voted "Rookie of the Year" following his 19-8 record which included a league-leading 188 strikeouts.

Like so many others, Sanford was hit by the sophomore jinx in 1958. Although at times he appeared as fast as ever, the 29-year-old Wellesley, Mass., hurler slumped to a 10-13 record. His strikeouts dwindled to 106 and his earned run average soared from 3.08 to 4.45.

Gomez wasn't much better. Two years older than Sanford, the Puerto Rican had a 10-12 mark after a splendid first-half season, and turned in a lackluster 4-37 ERA.

Although not as famous as his batterymate, Thomas may prove to be more important in Philadelphia's scheme of things. Perhaps the Phils' biggest need is a first-string catcher and Thomas may wrest the No. 1 job from big Stan Lopata.

The Bluejays, Foxes, Cedar Rapids, and Burlington will face each other 24 times in the 126-game schedule soon to be adopted. The league, operating with six teams last year, played a 130-game schedule. The 1959 schedule also will be played on a split-season basis with the first and second half champions meeting in a college game, that they aren't he was voted "Rookie of the Year" following his 19-8 record which included a league-leading 188 strikeouts.

Like so many others, Sanford was hit by the sophomore jinx in 1958. Although at times he appeared as fast as ever, the 29-year-old Wellesley, Mass., hurler slumped to a 10-13 record. His strikeouts dwindled to 106 and his earned run average soared from 3.08 to 4.45.

Gomez wasn't much better. Two years older than Sanford, the Puerto Rican had a 10-12 mark after a splendid first-half season, and turned in a lackluster 4-37 ERA.

Although not as famous as his batterymate, Thomas may prove to be more important in Philadelphia's scheme of things. Perhaps the Phils' biggest need is a first-string catcher and Thomas may wrest the No. 1 job from big Stan Lopata.

Des Moines, Lincoln, Topeka, Sioux City Enter; Loop Will Be Divided Into 2 Divisions

The Fox Cities and Green Bay—borrowing a slogan from a television Western series—"have baseball teams and will travel in 1959."

After some very anxious moments and hours at the annual minor-major league meetings in Washington, D. C., the Foxes and Bluejays attained membership in a new and bigger Three-I league realignment which adds four new teams and provides the most far-flung membership in the league's distinguished 57-year history.

New 3-1 members, all from the now defunct Class A Western league, will include Des Moines and Sioux City, Ia., Lincoln, Neb., and Topeka, Kan.

The new teams will comprise the league's Western division and will join with Green Bay, Fox Cities, Burlington, Ia., and Cedar Rapids, Ia., in rounding out an 8-club circuit next year.

Winona, Minn. and Davenport, Ia. have dropped out of the league, which last season operated as a 6-team circuit.

League President Hal Totten, in announcing the drastic realignment in Washington Wednesday night, simultaneously revealed that all eight clubs have working agreements next year as follows:

Give Affiliations
Green Bay, Los Angeles; Fox Cities, Washington; Cedar Rapids, Milwaukee; Burlington, Chicago Cubs; Des Moines, Philadelphia; Sioux City, Kansas City; Lincoln, Chicago White Sox; and Topeka, St. Louis Cardinals.

To compensate for the additional transportation problems arising out of the new alignment, the western clubs have agreed to pay extra travel costs and share in room and board expenditures incurred by the eastern clubs while on the road.

In addition, the 1959 schedule will be drawn so that the eastern cities—Green Bay, Fox Cities, Burlington, and Cedar Rapids, will make only two trips west and will play only 14 games with each of the western teams.

Compromise Draft Rule Passed by Minor Leagues

Now Majors Get Watered-Down Version of 'Unrestricted' Plan

Washington —(AP)— The major leagues take up many problems today running all the way from the unrestricted draft and huge bonus payments to expansion.

The minors formally close their convention after completing the heavy work Wednesday.

Their most important action was passage of a watered-down version of the unrestricted draft, a compromise proposal by the Los Angeles Dodgers' farm at St. Paul of the American association.

Soundly beaten was a New York Yankee-sponsored plan to reinstate the bonus rule that would radically restrict movement of players who get $5,000 or more for signing.

Also Turned Down

A free-wheeling unrestricted draft plan also was turned down.

The Dodger - backed plan was adopted 20-4.

Now the majors must decide whether they want to go along. The National is reportedly in favor and the American split. If it comes to a tie, Commissioner Ford Frick would vote in favor.

"This St. Paul plan is a lot better than the Yankee bonus rule," said Frank Lane, Cleveland general manager.

"It will cut down on bonus payments. There is a limit to the number you can keep on a 40-man roster."

St. Paul Plan

Under the St. Paul plan, any minor leaguer can be drafted at the end of his first year. However, if he is left in the minors and escapes the draft, he will not be eligible again until he has completed his normal draft period. This period varies from two to four years, depending on the classification of the league in which he plays.

As things stand now, a minor leaguer must have 4-years experience before he can be drafted from a triple - A or double-A roster.

The new rule will not become effective unless the majors also approve it.

The rash of bonus payments, totaling about six million dollars since the old bonus rule was scuttled a year ago, prompted all this legislation.

The Three-I's 1959 membership was set officially Wednesday night after officials of the Winona, Minn., club informed executives of the other teams that they were unsuccessful in obtaining a big league working agreement for next year.

Winona earlier had won tentative acceptance as a league member next year providing that it was successful in obtaining a new major league tie-up.

Cancel Agreement

The Kansas City Athletics, who were affiliated with Winona last season, canceled their working agreement with the Minnesota city at the conclusion of the 1958 campaign.

Winona's ball park was considered by most baseball observers to be below the standards required for organized baseball.

Davenport, which experienced a fairly good 1958 season attendance - wise, also was forced to drop out of the league when the Chicago White Sox pulled out of the Iowa city.

Three Factors

Green Bay Bluejay Vice President Bill Clancy, commenting on the Three-I's realignment meeting this morning, said that three factors were instrumental in Green Bay's going along with the drastically realigned league next season.

First, Clancy said, Green Bay had held out for travel and road trip compensation from the western clubs to offset economic problems which would have accrued from the vast expansion of the league's boundaries.

Secondly, the Bluejay vice president pointed to the need for the realigned schedule which, as now approved, will require only two trips by Green Bay to Des Moines, Lincoln, Sioux City, and Topeka.

A final factor in Green Bay's decision to go along with realignment, Clancy said, was the assurance from the Los Angeles Dodgers that they would provide Green Bay with a greatly improved working agreement next season.

Under the new agreement, Green Bay will receive approximately $10,000 in additional financial aid. This will include full payment of the Bluejay manager's salary by the Dodgers and full payment by the Dodgers of all National Association of Professional Baseball Clubs membership fees.

Bruhn to Coach In All-America Bowl Game

Tucson, Ariz. —(AP)— Wisconsin Coach Milt Bruhn Wednesday agreed to coach the large school All-America team in the first annual Optimist All-America bowl football game scheduled here Jan. 3.

The game will match teams from The Associated Press All-America and Little All-America teams.

The selection of Bruhn completed the coaching lineup. The Badger coach will be assisted by Ed Doherty of the University of Arizona.

Volney Ashford of Missouri Valley college and Max Spillbury of Arizona State college at Flagstaff will coach the small school staff.

Bruhn was named to replace Sammy Baugh of Hardin-Simmons who withdrew after his Cowboys were selected to play in the Sun bowl at El Paso, Tex., Jan. 1.

Isbell Roots for Unitas to Break One of His Records

Baltimore —(AP)— Cecil Isbell, whose memory still is green among Green Bay Packers fans, is rooting for John Unitas to break one of his records, but he hopes the Baltimore Colts' quarterback leaves another record alone.

Isbell said Wednesday it's fine if Unitas throws a touchdown pass Saturday at Los Angeles to beat his (1941-42) record of scoring throws in 23 straight games.

But Isbell wants to keep his other record. That's for the shortest touchdown pass on record—four inches. Now a businessman in Milwaukee.

Cronin Top Candidate for AL Presidency

Washington —(AP)— Joe Cronin, 52, general manager of the Boston Red Sox and a member of Baseball's Hall of Fame, is the leading candidate to become the new president of the American league.

Will Harridge, president for 28 years and a league employee for 47, resigned Wednesday with eight years to go on a contract calling for a $50,000 annual salary.

Johnson Wins Easily Over Howard King

Chicago —(AP)— Harold Johnson still is looking for fights. He wasn't in much of a one Wednesday night.

"I want to fight as much as I can, but I have a hard time getting them," said the No. 2 light heavyweight contender.

Johnson's entourage thinks he's being shunned because he's too good.

If that's true, managers should be breaking down the door to get at him after the national televised display in Chicago stadium.

Johnson, with only six days of preparation, took a lopsided unanimous decision over gangling Howard King of Reno in an unimpressive 10-round fight.

It was the Philadelphia's eighth bout — and his eighth straight victory — in three years.

Johnson was notified last week that he would replace the ailing Sonny Liston against King.

King, 24, suffered his sixteenth loss. He has 34 victories and seven draws. Johnson's overall record is 59-8.

Pitt's Hennon Hits 41 Points Against OSU

Hawkins Breaks Notre Dame's Career Record

By The Associated Press

It doesn't happen often, but sometimes the little men come up with the big night in college basketball.

It was that way Wednesday night when All-America Don Hennon of Pittsburgh and Lou Pucillo of North Carolina State paced their teams to important victories.

Hennon, the 5-8½ sharpshooter, scored 41 points as the Panthers defeated Ohio State, 73-70. Pucillo, 5-9, popped in a one-hand jump shot with two seconds remaining to give the Wolfpack a 55-53 victory over Maryland in an Atlantic Coast conference tilt.

Clemson Bows

North Carolina, tabbed as ACC favorites along with N.C. State and Maryland, whipped Clemson, 83-67. Texas Tech, a Southwest Conference power, beat Oklahoma 73-64. Georgia edged Florida, 66-63, in the Southeastern Conference. Notre Dame opened its season by walloping Bellarmine of Louisville, Ky., 87-55.

Hennon poured in 16 field goals and nine free throws for the second highest one-game scoring performance of his career. He had 45 points against Duke last year.

Tom Hawkins scored 39 points to break the Notre Dame career record. Starting his third varsity season, Hawkins pushed his total to 1,345. The old mark was 1,314 set by Jack Stephens, 1951-55.

Temple lost its first of 25 regular season games, 70-66, to Lehigh.

John Plach Slaps 651 Kegling Trio

John Plach of the Appletton Coated Paper team upset the sticks at a 651 velocity in Hahn's Industrial league Wednesday night at Hahn's.

One of his games was a 251. Jimos Hats (304-114) holds a half game lead.

Attention immediately focused on Cronin who acknowledged interest in the job.

In fact, there were strong rumors that Cronin had the job and "Bucky" Harris would take over as Red Sox general manager.

However, the league named a 6-man screening committee to consider candidates and indicated the decision possibly would be a matter of several weeks' work.

Cronin wasn't the only candidate.

Midwest 'Spiel Starts Today At Waupaca

32 Rinks From 3 States Set for Annual Event

Waupaca — Curlers from three states will be alternately sweeping, begging and hoping when they take their first step on the ice at Waupaca Curling club's rink for the annual Midwest bonspiel, today through Sunday.

The ice is reported to be in excellent condition and has been ready for play for approximately a week. Contrary to the usual club circle color of red and white, the circles will be an "Irish" green and yellow.

Three Waupaca pinks will be among the 32 competing in the annual event for four trophies and runners-up medals. The rinks include Harold Bammel, skip, Sid Miller, Dr. G. E. Wickman and Dale Sherman; "Darkey" Barrington, skip, Chet Nichols, Harold Dushek and Don Fallgatter; Larry Woody, skip, Ray Becker, Sam Taylor and Bob Stange.

Clintonville Curlers
Clintonville curlers at the meet will include Harold Heuer, skip, James Long, John Collier and John Zellmer; Cliff Mullarkey, skip, Henry Thies, Coy Deming and Guy Fandrey.

Appleton rinks will include the John Bloomer, Dan Steinberg and Lew Phennor rinks. Other curlers will be coming from Wausau, Wausau, Madison, Medford, Hibbing, Minn., Milwaukee, Neosho, Eveleth, Minn., Stevens Point, Waltham, Ill., Chicago, Portage, Duluth, Minn., and LaCrosse.

Drawings for the first day begin at 4 p.m. when Steinberg meets Rhodes of Madison; Bloomer vs. Bammel; Heuer vs. Gall of Medford, and Brencle of Wausau vs. Meyers of Wausau.

Later Pairings
After-supper pairings at 6:30 p.m. include Winetzi of Wausau vs. Mullarkey; Simkins of Tri-City vs. Hill of Eveleth; Kleffman of Hibbing vs. Woodside of Stevens Point; Carlson of Madison vs. Biersock of Wausau; Freytag of Chicago vs. Stewart of Arlington; Wilson of Waltham vs. Ruth of Wausau; Hodge of Medford vs. Papenfuss of Wausau, and Woody vs. Phennor.

Tonight's concluding pairings following the 6:30 matches include Goodland of Portage vs. Lauber of Hibbing; Brainard of Chicago vs. Nolte of Milwaukee; Everett of Duluth vs. Ruechert of Portage, and Sarenen of Virginia vs. Barrington.

Other than the curling, special dinner festivities at the Waupaca Country club have been slated for 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday. The food will be served by Waupaca's women curlers, the Lochs.

Defending champions are the Lee Duncan rink of Wausau for the All-American; Bud Akin of Hibbing for the 20th Century event; Lavern Harmon for the McGrath trophy, and Cliff Mullarkey's rink of Clintonville for the Heit event.

Guepe Denies Interest in Warrior Job Report Says Former Star Will Meet With MU Board

Milwaukee — (U) — Former Marquette grid star Art Guepe, now head coach at Vanderbilt, denied Wednesday night he was interested in the Warrior coaching vacancy.

"I like it in Nashville," he said at Memphis. "It's cold up there (Milwaukee), and there's nothing to it." He commented as he attended a banquet of Vanderbilt alumni.

A report said that Guepe was expected in Milwaukee today to meet with the Marquette Athletic board, seeking a successor to Johnny Druze who has announced his resignation.

Guepe was a star on the Marquette team that played in the 1937 Cotton bowl game. His brother, Al, his assistant at Vanderbilt, played on the same team.

Guepe began his head coaching career in 1946 at Virginia where his teams won 31 and lost only seven games in four years. He's been at Vanderbilt since 1953 and his teams have a 28-27-5 record. His 1958 squad finished with a 5-2-3 slate.

Vikes Open MC Season Against Coe ready to give up that satisfaction easily.

Forward Jim Rasmussen, who led both clubs in scoring with 18 points at Lake Forest, helped pace the 1956-7 Madison West High school quintet to the championship game of the Wisconsin state tournament before the Regents were eliminated by Shawano.

The year before, Shawano had knocked off an Appleton club in the tourney finals on which current Vike Jim Prothro as "extremely quick with great striking power."

Along with Cannon and Houston, Roger Duane "Zeke" Smith is a junior, a 210-pounder at guard who is one of the chief reasons Auburn went through the season with only the blemish of a tie against its record.

George Deiderich of Vandebilt, the other first team guard, shone even in defeat. He holds the school's high hurdles record and can block as viciously as he tackles.

Oklahoma's center, Bob Harrison, drew praise from Coach "Bud" Wilkinson who termed him one of the greatest. He is a farm boy from Stamford, Texas.

5 Badgers Win Honorable Mention

University of Wisconsin players given honorable mention on the AP All-American team were end Dave Kocourek, tackle Jim Heinicke, center Dick Teteak and backs Dale Hackbart and Jon Hobbs.

686 yards rushing in 115 attempts for a 6-yard average. Houston, another junior on a team that has eight seniors, is called the greatest end in Ohio State history. Captain-elect for 1959, he led his team in playing time with 500.5 minutes out of a possible 540.

Extremely Quick
Dial, always an excellent receiver, became a standout defensive player at Rice. Over his entire college career he caught 68 passes for 1,205 yards and scored 13 touchdowns.

Strom at tackle is the bulwark of a team that almost literally came from outer space to go through the season undefeated and land in the Cotton bowl.

Bates of Oregon State, the other tackle, is a 218-pounder described by Coach Tommy Schulze was a playmaking guard. Schulze, who also starred on a Fox River Valley conference champion at AHS, tossed in 16 points Tuesday.

Seeks Scoring Help
And, "Chuck" Knocke, who also counted 16 in the Lawrence opener, performed brilliantly on a second place and a third place Sheboygan North High school team in his last two prep years.

Monmouth and Knox To Visit Northfield

Coe - defending champion Monmouth and the Midwest conference's other Illinois member, title-favored Knox, visit Northfield, Minn., this weekend for a pair of games. Monmouth plays Carleton Friday and St. Olaf Saturday, switching opponents with the Siwashers. Ripon plays at Grinnell Friday and Coe Saturday.

for this trio is one of the things occupying Boya in drills Wednesday and today. (The Vikings were to leave, after today's drill, for Duquesne, Pa., where they'll stay tonight. They'll spend both Friday and Saturday nights in Cedar Rapids.)

Bill Weber, a 6-4 battler who is a steady rebounder but below-average scorer is sure to be the fourth Lawrence starter Friday. Either Kaukauna's Joe Lamers or surprising Carl Franke will be the fifth. Starter Lamers looked somewhat jittery Tuesday and was lifted.

Reserve Franke came through with eight points. The 6-3 junior is in his first season of high school or college varsity ball.

Rick Ramsey, one of Lawrence's only two lettermen, was unable to make the Lake Forest trip because of the press of studies. Also for that reason, Ramsey, Boya's first guard substitute, won't make the Iowa trip. George Thomas (6-4) is out until the Christmas break with a skin disease on his feet.

5 Lettermen Back
Coe defeated Lawrence, 76-41, and 80-65, last season. From that club five lettermen return—Lee Abrahamson, Bob Bouma, Carl Froebel, Ted Stang and Ron Wackerle. Bouma (6-2 junior forward) scored eight points in the two Vike games last season while Froebel (6-5 junior guard) tallied seven.

Wackerle (5-9 junior guard) collected four and Abrahamson (6-3 junior forward) five. Grinnell measured the Vikes by tallies of 74-34 and 61-57 last year. Bill McClintock (6-6 junior center) was the MC's fourteenth high scorer last season. The club's co-captains are its guards—5-6 John Copeland and 6-0 Paul Kantzler. Sophs will have to provide McClintock and Copeland with scoring help.

Lawrence Friday will be trying to break a losing streak of four games (which started last season) and a string of road game setbacks which has now reached 31 straight.

Bob Jensen Jars 622 Set

Wayne Lemberger Slaps 572 in 'Coated' Wheel

A 622 by Bob Jensen of Court Cities Service led the field in Hahn's Major league earlier in the week.

Behnke's (32-7) tops the circuit by eight games. Wayne Lemberger tumbled a 572 for the Wolverines in the Appleton Coated circuit. The Wildcats (25-17) hold a half-game league lead.

Esther Behnke smashed a 527 for Verrier Schmidt in the Elks Women's American wheel. Plank Dandy (28 - 11) holds a 1-game loop lead. Rosey Erickson shot a 190 singleton.

Ten Pin Toilers keggers were paced by Janice Wolf of first place Beyer Insurance (26-13) and her 204 solo.

Edna Vandenberg smashed a 190 for Brett Schneiders in the Elks Women's National wheel.

Other honor scores:

MAJOR:
Bill Noffke, 553; Frank Kroas, 553; Harry Smith, 552; Eddie Grassl, 571; Jim Trass, 570; Jack Burton, 552; Wally Roblee, 586.

Says Federal Road Aid Too Late

San Francisco — R. R. L'Hommedieu, research and planning director of the Wisconsin Highway Commission, said Tuesday that federal money for state highway systems has been made available too late.

L'Hommedieu told the 44th convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials that costs have increased $40 billion since the interstate program was laid out 23 years ago. He said Americans are willing to pay for bigger and better roads.

"The problem of financing the cost of the interstate system will have to be met," L'Hommedieu said. "Basically, the future of highway finance... depends upon our ability to sell and the public's willingness to purchase our product."

Says Union Official Extorted Payoffs

Washington — A small businessman Wednesday accused union official Arthur H. Cronin of extorting payoffs for labor peace and participating in profitable bid rigging in the Chicago area.

Cecil H. Johnson, head of the Bond Ventilating company of Bridgeview, Ill., told the senate racketeers committee he had to pay Cronin $300 "for the privilege of going in to business" in 1949. He said Cronin later tried to bring him into bid rigging deals against city and Cook county agencies.

Cronin, an international vice president of the Sheet Metal Workers union, sat silent in the rear of the hearing room his head lowered, as Johnson gave the testimony.

Lesson in English

BY W. L. GORDON

WORDS OFTEN MISUSED: The word NUMBER is singular or plural, according to usage. Thus: "The number WAS increased to fifty," and, "A number of men WERE present."

OFTEN MISPRONOUNCED: Romance. Accent second syllable, not the first.

OFTEN MISPELLED: Excerpt; observe the "c." Exert, no "c."

SYNONYMS: Female, feminine, womanly, womanlike, womanish, effeminate, ladylike

WORD STUDY: "Use a word three times and it is yours." Let us increase our vocabulary by mastering one word each day.

Today's word: Sophistry; deceptively subtle reasoning or argumentation. (Pronounce sah-fis-try, accent first syllable). "No amount of sophistry will make me think differently."

Reformatory Asks Increase Of $400,000

Schmidt Estimates
Biennial Needs
At $3,375,095

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The state reformatory near Green Bay needs an appropriation increase of at least $400,000 for its operations during the next two years, State Welfare Director Wilbur Schmidt said at department budget hearings here today.

Schmidt laid before Gov. Elect Gaylord Nelson a proposal for a biennial budget of $3,375,095 to operate the correctional institution for young men and boys, a figure that would permit expansion of 23 additional staff members to accommodate the larger population there.

The official warned, moreover, that the budget calculations are based on an average population estimate of 208, which was the experience for the last six months of 1957. Lately population has sky-rocketed and now stands near 1,000. If that level continues, the department will be required to ask for emergency money during the next two years, beyond the figures now requested, he told Nelson.

Camp Work
Some of the new staff asked would be assigned to supervisory work at the reformatory forestry camp in Tama-hawk and its farm camp near Oneda, in Outagamie county. Eight additional positions there would permit a reduction of an excessive staff work week without affecting security standards, it was explained.

Other new positions are needed to provide a "good level of service to the increasing population," the budget related.

The reformatory requests were contained in a $56,000,000 spending proposal for the operation of all of the state's

Coya Says She Isn't Going Home to Mate

Philadelphia — (U. S. — Rep. Coya Knutson (D-Minn.) says she isn't going home to her husband.

"It has nothing to do with the elections," she told a reporter for the Philadelphia Inquirer Tuesday. "Andy and I are friends but there is no reconciliation."

The congresswoman was the only Democratic candidate not elected in Minnesota on Nov. 4. A hitch developed in her reelection campaign when her husband, Andy, made a public "come home, Coya" appeal.

He asked her to give up public life and return to their home and hotel business in Okice, Minn.

After the election Knutson brought a $200,000 suit against William Kjedahl, his wife's congressional secretary, charging slander and alienation of affections. The suit was dropped last week.

Then this week, Benedict F. Fitzgerald, Jr., a Washington attorney, announced that a tape recorder was planted in Mrs. Knutson's Washington apartment for purposes of eavesdropping.

Fitzgerald said later when asked about the microphone: "I've had some investigators. They are young men. They are over-enthusiastic. I have cautioned them. I do not want to harass this woman."

"I didn't really know it (the microphone) was set up. If it was set up, I told them to suspend operations completely."

Mrs. Knutson said yesterday she doesn't believe Fitzgerald. "The announcement is just another of his gimmicks and tricks to get publicity for himself," she said.
